THE WEEKLY GAZETTE.

VOL. XXV. COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1897. NUMBER 39.

[illegible]

[illegible] Feeling Regarding the Best Candidates to be Selected for the Various Offices.

A LOCAL, STRONG TICKET—A [illegible] SUCCESS

A Address to Lovers of Good Government.

USUAL RESOLUTIONS

Discussion of Matters Demanding the Consideration of Citizens.

FACTS ABOUT THE CANDIDATES

Harmony Characterized the Actions of the Republican County Convention Yesterday—The Delegates Immediately Proceeded to Business and Nominated the Strongest Ticket Ever Submitted to the Voters of the County—Only One Contest, and that Over the Office of Coroner.—Dr. Marlow Sidetracked—Complete Report of the Convention's Proceedings—The Justice of the Peace Convention Nominated Sellers—Judicial Convention at the Court House—Something About the Nominees—Chairman Platt Talks.

For District Attorney:
HENRY McALLISTER, JR.,
Of Colorado Springs.
For Sheriff:
W. S. BOYNTON
Of Cripple Creek.
For County Clerk:
J. E. RINKER,
Of Cripple Creek.
For Treasurer:
F. J. STEINMETZ
Of Colorado City.
For Assessor:
J. M. JACKSON,
Of Colorado City.
For Superintendent of Schools:
L. B. GRAFTON,
Of Colorado Springs.
For Surveyor:
LEE W. DAVIS,
Of Victor.
For Coroner:
OSCAR LAMPMAN,
Of Cripple Creek.
For County Commissioner:
ED. M. DE LA VERGNE,
Of Colorado Springs.
For Justice of the Peace:
J. C. SELLERS.
For Constable:
GEO. L. HACKLEY.

A more harmonious convention never met in El Paso county than that which assembled in the opera house yesterday to nominate a county ticket. The convention was a representative one, all parts of the county being fairly represented among the delegates, and there did not appear to be any difference of opinion regarding the best men for the various nominations. Only one ballot was taken in the convention, the entire ticket being made by acclamation. The proceedings reached a climax when the convention got down to its second nomination, that of Mr. Boynton for sheriff.

The result of the convention was a good, clean ticket, composed of men of character and ability, such a ticket, in fact, as the friends of good government in the fusion of the county had been hoping would be nominated.

The excellent state of the political atmosphere had been parathened off in such a manner that the delegates from the various towns in the county could be long for an enjoyable meeting, bearing the names of the various candidates were conspicuously displayed all over the house. A large number of the delegates were in their seats when the convention called the convention to order, and many spectators were in the hall of the house.

Convention Called to Order.

It was nearly 11 o'clock when Chairman W. A. Platt stepped on the stage and called the convention to order and proceeded to read the call. After reading the call, Mr. Platt made a short address, in which he called the attention of the delegates to the importance of selecting a ticket which could win, and to be elected at the November election. He dwelt on the fact that it was only necessary for the Republicans to get together, and it would be no image whatever to defeat them. "Nobody's ticket" which had been thrown together in Cripple Creek and Victor.

A. L. Humphrey, of Colorado City, nominated J. W. Huff, of Victor, for temporary chairman, and he was elected without opposition. W. D. Sovell, of Colorado Springs, was elected temporary secretary.

Upon motion of E. M. Jeffery, of Cripple Creek, the chair appointed a committee on credentials as follows: J. E. Little, E. W. Davis, James Taggart, W. C. Robinson and Ford Overton.

W. K. Brown, of Colorado Springs, moved that a committee on resolutions be appointed, but the chair held that no other committees could be appointed until the committee on credentials had reported.

The convention then took a recess until 2 p. m.

Afternoon Session.

The convention did not reassemble until nearly 2 o'clock. The committee on credentials reported that there were no contests, and the report was adopted.

Upon motion committees on rules and order of business, resolutions, and selection of delegates to judicial convention, were appointed as follows:

Rules and Order of Business—J. H. Woods, A. L. Humphrey, Mrs. J. J. Tiffany, C. D. Ford, R. G. Mullen, C. W. Milton, D. H. Rupp.

Resolutions—W. A. Platt, A. R. Kennedy, C. Terry, J. R. Jones, C. H. Crowine, R. R. Stoddard, Walter Whitmore, W. P. Esperson, Sam. Skinner.

Delegates to the Convention—W. S. Morris, J. J. Woodworth, W. R. McCree, J. F. Morgan, Burk Potter.

The committees retired and while the delegates were waiting Captain Taggart, M. M. Baldwin and others were called for and made patriotic addresses.

Committees Report.

The committee on rules and order of business was the first to report. A permanent organization was recommended and the order of business was read as follows: Nominations for sheriff, treasurer, assessor, clerk, surveyor, superintendent of schools, commissioner, coroner, selection of a county central committee. Roberts' rules were adopted to govern the proceedings of the convention. The order was adopted.

Mr. W. A. Platt then read the report of the committee on resolutions, and was frequently interrupted by tumultuous applause. The resolutions follow:

Ringing Resolutions.

The Republicans of El Paso county, by delegates in convention assembled, congratulate the party and the county on the growth of Republicanism during the past six months. With business conditions settled, the development of the national resources will proceed more rapidly, and all good citizens will share in the resulting benefits.

The effort in behalf of international bimetallism is forty so much more successful, in the face of discouraging conditions, that the friends of silver had reason to expect—which has been made by the official commissioners sent abroad on the presidential mandate of whom is our own Colorado senator, Edward O. Wolcott, must win our warmest approval, and constitute the best possible fulfillment of the pledge made by the Republican party, in its last national platform, to use its best efforts towards securing from an international agreement for the free coinage of silver.

In the coming election in Denver, we realize that no national issues are involved, and that no difference of opinion on national questions should divide the friends of law, order, and good government. By the fusion of all the elements of good government in the county upon a ticket whose dangerous character becomes more apparent the better it is known, all the taxpayers, property owners and good citizens generally of the county are threatened with an administration partaking of the further development of the county and most perilous to all existing interests. Charges set and based upon the all the opposition parties are trumpeted over your heads in the nomination of a fusion ticket whose only conspicuous principle is a consuming desire for public plunder, and which is repudiated as unworthy by the other organizations in all cases of the fusing parties.

We therefore appeal to all good citizens, of whatever previous political affiliations, to join with us in preventing the danger warned against.

As an evidence of the competency of the Republican party of the county to conduct its affairs honestly and economically, we refer confidently to the administration of its affairs by Republicans for years past. Our tax levy for county purposes has been uniformly lower than that of any other county in the state, and the average levy is a majority of the other counties in Colorado for four years past has been more than double our own. Every other county in the state of Colorado, so far as is unencumbered with a large bonded indebtedness, of such debt, we owe not a dollar. Our county offices have been run during the past two years especially, with a comparatively smaller and less expensive force than the similar offices in any other county in Colorado. Law and order have been preserved, criminal cases have been brought to justice, our courts and their officers have the respect of the entire state. So far as the Republican incumbents are concerned, every office in the county has been managed efficiently, economically and in the interests of the people.

With a natural, and we believe a pardonable pride in this record, we appeal confidently to the good citizens of El Paso county to support our ticket in the campaign, not for partisan reasons only or mainly, but because that is the requirements the intelligence, the morality, and the business interests of the county.

W. A. Platt,
A. R. Kennedy,
D. H. Evans,
C. Terry,
J. R. Jones,
R. R. Stoddard,
Walter Whitmore,
W. P. Esperson,
Sam Skinner.

"Partial" Struck Out.

When Mr. Platt concluded reading the resolutions the delegates appointed heartily. A motion was made that the resolutions be adopted, but Mr. Levy, of Cripple Creek, objected to the word "partial" in the first paragraph, which referred to prosperity. Mr. Levy held that genuine prosperity had visited the entire country since the election of McKinley and went on to recite instances. Mr. Platt explained that the word partial was used advisedly, as only the first ripple of the tide had been received, and all good Republicans were expecting more. Mr. Levy said he did not want prosperity with the Democratic flag, and if what had been received was good enough for him as he knew it would be for eight years. Captain Taggart was of the same opinion and upon motion, the word partial was stricken out, and the resolution adopted.

Judicial Convention Delegates.

The report of the committee on selection of the judicial delegates was read. The following delegates were appointed:

John G. Stecker, J. F. Burns, C. E. Talbot, Wm. Fitzsell, J. E. Tepping, Geo. F. Weyburn, Ed. Howbey, A. F. Parlery, M. D. Brimler, F. F. Shepherd, Wm. Miller, A. G. Jacobs, A. L. Humphrey, Ed. Beckwith, Jr., V. R. Baker, F. M. Reardon, J. S. Fitz, N. E. Mock, Jas. Taggart, Dr. Conger, L. A. Puffer, A. E. Van Ness, J. J. Woodworth, J. F. Morgan, Burk Potter.

Enthusiastic Delegates.

The chairman declared nominations for sheriff in order. Senator Kennedy arose, and in a beautiful speech offered the name of W. S. Boynton for the office. The applause was deafening as the name of Boynton was uttered and every delegate in the convention tried to second the nomination. Messrs. Taggart, Grafton and Beckwith made short speeches seconding the nomination, and the Manitou delegation seconded it by a rising vote. Every delegate in the house rose to his feet cheering, and the scene presented was a most thrilling one.

Finally sufficient order was secured to hear a motion that the rules be suspended and Boynton be nominated by a rising vote. Before the chair had time to put the motion, the delegates were on their feet again, cheering lustily. Boynton was declared nominated and there were loud calls for the choice of the convention. A committee of three was appointed to escort Mr. Boynton to the stage.

Other Nominations.

Mr. Boynton could not be found for several moments, as he had made his escape from the building, and the business of the convention was proceeded with.

Judge Morris placed the name of Frank J. Steinmetz before the convention for the nomination of treasurer, and he was nominated by acclamation.

A. L. Humphrey nominated J. M. Jackson for assessor and no opposition developing, Mr. Jackson was nominated by a rising vote.

At this juncture the committee appointed to escort Mr. Boynton to the stage appeared with that gentleman. The delegates renewed their cries for Boynton, and he responded in a brief speech, thanking the delegates for the honor conferred upon him, and promising to perform his duty faithfully if elected.

Rinker Nominated.

The nomination of county clerk and recorder being in order, N. H. Meier, an attorney of Cripple Creek, a personal friend of John E. Rinker, of Cripple Creek, placed that gentleman's name in nomination in a very neat speech dedicating upon the character, integrity, business ability and fitness for the position of the candidate named by him. And if Mr. Rinker has such sterling qualities as was stated by his friend, then indeed the choice has been an excellent one. Mr. Rinker was nominated by a rising vote.

Lee W. Davis, of Victor, was nominated for county surveyor, and Mr. Ashworth, the present incumbent, was also nominated, but declined. Mr. Davis was nominated by acclamation.

D. H. Rupp, of Manitou, nominated L. B. Grafton for superintendent of schools, and the seconding speech of Captain Taggart was one of the best of the convention. Mr. Grafton was the unanimous choice for superintendent of schools.

A. L. Humphrey nominated Ed. M. de la Vergne for commissioner, and he was nominated by acclamation.

Oscar Lampman for Coroner.

The selection of a coroner on the ticket brought about the only fight of the convention. Oscar Lampman and Dr. Marlow were both presented for the convention for this office.

A deputation of Cripple Creek men, as the nomination of Lampman, but it was finally decided that the poll would be called by precincts. The vote showed that Lampman had received 164 and Marlow 56. Mr. Lampman was declared the nominee. This closed the nominations, and upon motion of A. L. Humphrey, the following county central committee was appointed:

County Central Committee.

W. A. Platt, chairman; D. M. Sullivan, George F. Green, Mrs. C. A. Eldridge, F. M. Reardon, Mrs. G. E. Pettigrew, W. L. Jones, D. H. Rupp, W. P. Esperson.

The American Eagle.

Mr. Platt moved that the American eagle be adopted as the emblem of the party. The motion prevailed unanimously.

A committee to fill vacancies in case of death or resignation was appointed as follows: F. W. Howbert, A. L. Humphrey, W. A. Platt, A. R. Kennedy, C. W. Long.

The business of the convention being at an end, the adjournment followed.

Sellers for J. P.

Immediately after the adjournment of the convention the J. P. convention to select a justice of the peace from the Colorado Springs, Ivywild and Rockrift precincts was held in the opera house. W. S. Morris was elected temporary chairman and R. P. Taylor temporary secretary. The names of D. A. Thomas, J. C. Sellers and Charles Walker were presented to the convention, and the voting began by ballot. The first ballot showed the nominee receiving very evenly, and two subsequent ballots changed the result very little. It was then decided to drop the lowest man on the next ballot and vote for the remaining two. On the fourth ballot Sellers received 33 votes and Walker 27. Sellers' vote was then made unanimous.

Geo. W. Lackley was nominated for constable by acclamation.

District Attorney McAllister.

The judicial convention met in the court house last night at 7:30 for the purpose of nominating a district attorney. In the absence of Chairman O. B. Wilcox, J. S. Stroud called the convention to order. On motion, Mr. Stroud was elected temporary chairman and Mrs. Harriet E. Wilson temporary secretary. A committee of three was appointed on credentials and the organization made permanent.

Judge W. C. Robinson presented the name of Henry McAllister, Jr., to the convention for the nomination of district attorney, and fairly eulogized the young attorney in a brief speech. On motion the vote was taken by counties and Mr. McAllister was declared to be the unanimous choice of the convention.

Loud calls for McAllister brought that gentleman to the front, and in a few well chosen words he thanked the delegates for the honor conferred upon him, and promised unswerving fidelity to the party of which he was the chosen nominee.

The Nominees.

Messrs. Boynton, Steinmetz, Jackson and Grafton it is useless to say anything to the people of this county. Their records speak for themselves, and the fact that they have been renominated is a tribute to their efficiency and sterling worth.

The nominee for county clerk is not so well known in this end of the county, but in Cripple Creek, where he has labored for the past four years, no man is held in higher esteem than is John E. Rinker.

Mr. Rinker is a graduate of three colleges, and come to Colorado about six years ago. He was for three years principal of the Florissant school, and then went to the Cripple Creek High school, where he graduated one class and resigned that place in April last when he was elected police magistrate of Cripple Creek and still holds that office. He is also a member of the firm of George Pearce and company of the City Drug store in Cripple Creek.

Mr. Rinker did not seek the office of county clerk, but if elected he will prove an excellent official.

Lee W. Davis of Victor, the nominee of the Republican party for surveyor is a civil engineer by profession and a member of the firm of Eyler and Davis. He is also a consulting engineer for the famous Gold Coin mine. He is a first-class surveyor, a man of ability, and will lend great strength to the ticket.

It is unnecessary to speak of Messrs. E. M. De la Vergne and Oscar Lampman, the nominees for commissioner and coroner, to any extent, as both men are well known all over the county. Mr. De la Vergne is a prominent mining man, being a heavy owner of the famous Raven mine. Every man, woman and child in Cripple Creek and the majority of the people in this city know Oscar Lampman. He is popular with everybody, and has been a member of the firm of Fairley Bros. and Lampman, the furniture dealers, ever since Cripple Creek was founded.

The addition of the names of De la Vergne and Lampman adds great strength to the Republican ticket.

Chairman Platt's Opinion.

The new chairman of the Republican county central committee, Mr. W. A. Platt, was asked last evening by a Gazette man how he liked the outcome of the convention.

"The convention," said Mr. Platt, "has given to the people the best county ticket ever nominated by any convention since I have known anything about El Paso county and its politics. The nominees, every one, are good clean men, for whom no apologies need to be made and whom we can ask the people to vote for on their merits. There is not a man on the ticket who is not the superior of his opponent on the fusion ticket. There is not a man who will not make a first rate official if he is elected. In comparison with the fusion ticket, this is so much better that every good citizen, regardless of politics, should have not the least difficulty in making up his or her mind what is the best course to pursue in this campaign. It is as important for us in this county to beat that fusion ticket as it was to the whole state to beat Waite three years ago. The same issues are involved, the same dangers are threatened.

"I do not believe the people of this city as yet fully realize what a proposition is presented to them in this contest; but by the efforts of the Gazette and other news-

(Continued on Page 8.)

[illegible]

Greater New York Republicans Nominate General Tracy.

[illegible] FORCES VICTORIOUS

Seth Low had Less than 50 Votes in a Total of 318—Union of Anti-Tammany Forces is Now Unlikely—Citizens Union will Not Withdraw its Candidate—Low Republicans Not Inclined to Bolt on Account of the Action of the Convention.

New York, Sept. 28.—General Benjamin Tracy, the former secretary of the navy, was quietly nominated by the convention of the regular Republican organization for mayor of Greater New York.

Seth Low the nominee of the Citizens' Union, got less than 50 of the 318 votes cast. His name was received by the delegates and some cheers with hoots and hisses and Jacob Worth, the leader of the opposition to Senator Platt, was cheered down when he essayed to present Low's name. None of the defeated Low men, however, expressed an intention to bolt the regular ticket. The Citizens' Union several days ago announced that the withdrawal of Low was out of the question and the Republican committee at the same time received an ultimatum to the effect that Low was not acceptable to the Republican organization. Negotiations were then discontinued and were not resumed today, although the Brooklyn committee of fifty, and the Low Democracy, both supporting Low, made a last appeal to the Republican leaders in Low's behalf. These organizations, it is said, are still loyal to Low. A union of the anti-Tammany forces now seems unlikely.

Morning Session.

Up to the hour set for the assembling of the first Republican convention for the Greater New York municipality, today there had been no developments that threatened to overturn the plans agreed upon at the meeting of the district leaders last night. A publisher's statement that Seth Low and his friends had been discussing the proposition that Mr. Low withdraw from the mayoralty received authoritative denial, when exposed to the suggestion that the statement made that Low's retirement might mean the substitution of some other name in his place. F. F. Tracy as the Republican candidate for mayor.

County Chairman Quigg called the convention to order at noon and introduced Journalist Joseph Woodward as the first speaker. On motion of Congressman Quigg a committee of 11 to confer with the anti-Tammany organizations was appointed. The convention then adjourned until 3 p. m.

When the convention took a recess the committee on conference went into secret session. There were also present representatives of the Brooklyn committee of fifty and the Purroy faction.

Low's Endorsement Advocated.

The Citizens' Union was represented by Henry D. Purroy made a vigorous speech advocating the endorsement of Mr. Low. Members of the Brooklyn committee also spoke for Mr. Low. No special mention was made of Low as a nominee, the convention could not consider him. If he later would withdraw from the race then there might be something done.

Mr. Low's friends said that he was in the field to stay, and after a wrangle of nearly three hours, the meeting adjourned without a result.

Evening Session.

The doors of the convention hall were opened at 8 o'clock and the auditorium was packed to its utmost capacity.

Shortly after 8 o'clock Senator Platt, accompanied by Mrs. Platt and several ladies, appeared in the box immediately above the right of the platform. The band play "Hail to the Chief," and the crowd yelled and cheered until it was hoarse.

During a wrangle over the report of the committee on contested seats, Jacob Worth spoke of Platt as "the man who messes in Washington," and declared that all obey the orders of the sachem.

Worth Howled Down.

Worth was howled down and his friends were overwhelmingly defeated. This was immediately upon the resumption of the convention.

Temporary officers were then made permanent officers, and Lemuel E. Quigg was unanimously elected president of the city committee.

Edward Lauterbach, chairman of the committee on resolutions, presented the platform, which was adopted. The platform begins:

The Platform.

"There is one great issue before the people at this time. It cannot be separated from any political contest. It is issue created by the Chicago platform, and nothing can be more obvious than that the result of every election, national, state or municipal, until that platform is seen formally abandoned by the party that made it, must count for or against its odious and destructive principles.

"Every intelligent voter knows that if the first mayor of Greater New York is the candidate of this convention a mighty impulse will be given in support of every sound principle of government.

"Every intelligent voter knows, on the other hand, that if the first mayor of Greater New York is a Tammany Democrat the effect will be to greatly injure the hopes and promote the schemes that are group in the public mind under the name of Bryanism and at the same time deliver this magnificent metropolis into the hands of an organized conspiracy for public plunder.

"We endorse the St. Louis platform. We believe that it held the support of the intelligent and patriotic people of New York as much today as it did a year ago. It is not only the cause of sound money, it is preeminently the cause of social order. Every vote cast against the candidates of this convention places both in peril."

Result of the Conference.

After the adoption of the platform Jacob Worth jumped to his feet and said that he desired to know the report, if any, of the committee on conference had to make. Mr. Quigg stated that the conference had been fruitless.

"I said," he continued, "that I did not think that Seth Low could ever be nominated by any Republican convention, but if the report of the committee of fifty could secure the withdrawal of Low the Republicans would unreservedly place themselves in their hands. The reply was that Low had given a promise to his friends and he must stand by his promise."

General Tracy Nominated.

District Attorney Olcott placed in nomination for mayor General Benjamin F. Tracy.

The flag which hid from view the picture of General Tracy over the rear platform was drawn aside when Mr. Olcott finished, and the delegates set up a yell of applause.

The Low men kept their seats. Jacob Worth stood up to speak and there were yells of "Platform! platform!" and the veteran leader climbed up to the platform over the reporters' tables, assisted by Chairman Woodruff.

Mr. Worth's Speech.

"I remember," said Mr. Worth, "the convention 18 years ago when Seth Low was nominated for mayor of Brooklyn and General Tracy nominated by the Republican convention. I was opposed to Low's candidacy, and because of that I was relegated to the rear and stayed for four long years.

"Low was a good enough Republican to be renominated and enough independent to be reelected. Should Mr. Low not be nominated it would be a sad disappointment to the majority of the intelligent people of New York." (Cries of "Get off.")

Worth replied, "Get off nothing! get off nothing," shaking his fists. "You have not a clear majority of the legislature, can you? Don't insult the Citizens' Union of which you have made a mistake."

Mr. Worth forgot to name Mr. Low as his candidate and turned to leave the platform, but he quickly turned back and said,

"I make a mere matter of form. I present for nomination the name of Seth Low."

John M. Ward, amid catcalls and hooting, seconded the nomination of Seth Low.

The ballot was as follows:

Tracy, 297; Low, 50, and ex-Mayor Schroeder, of Brooklyn, 2.

The nomination was made unanimous and a committee was appointed to notify General Tracy of his nomination.

Gold Democrat Nominated.

In the meantime Chauncey M. Depew nominated for the office of comptroller Asahel P. Fitch, the present incumbent, and a gold Democrat, saying:

"When the integrity of the country was tricked last year by gold Democrats came to the aid of the Republicans. It is to recognize the man who sacrificed party ties that I ask you to nominate by acclamation Asahel P. Fitch for comptroller." (Applause.)

The nomination was made unanimous.

General Tracy Accepts.

The committee appointed to notify General Tracy appeared with the candidate immediately after an address, General Tracy said in part:

"I accept the nomination. If my candidacy be the means of uniting upon the contest for a Republican victory, I shall not hesitate. If, however, the spirit of harmony and conciliation, which we have invoked, does not prevail, I propose, having accepted this nomination, to make it stand."

Roy Application of Brooklyn was unanimously nominated for president of the council, and the convention adjourned.

VR. BRYAN'S LETTER.

Tammany May Decide to Make its Contents Public, and Then Again it May Not.

New York, Sept. 28.—Regarding the letter said to have been written to Wm. J. Bryan on the proper attitude on national issues of the Democracy of Greater New York in the pending municipal campaign, Col. W. L. Rutter, of the Daily News, to whom it is said the letter was sent, has been addressed as follows:

"No, one word of it has been published from Mr. Bryan since he left the city. No one except a few of the leaders has seen it. I will make it public whenever the leaders of Tammany deem it advisable, and not until then. It may be given out in a few days, and it may never be given out."

GEORGE FRED WILLIAMS.

Democracy of Massachusetts Resolves to Stand by the Chicago Platform and Free Silver.

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 28.—George Fred Williams of Boston was today nominated for governor of Massachusetts by the Democratic state convention on a platform that squarely endorses that adopted by the national convention at Chicago last summer. The other nominees are: Lieutenant-Governor Christopher T. Callahan of Holyoke.

Secretary, C. D. Nash, of Wareham.

Attorney general, John A. O'Keefe, of Lynn.

Treasurer and receiver general, T. A. Watson of Boston.

Auditor, J. L. Chadbourne, of Lowell.

Disorderly Convention.

The convention was so disorderly at times as almost to require the intervention of the police. George Fred Williams was the principal figure in the convention. There was no opposition to his nomination for governor, but his insistence on the turning down of old party leaders who were lukewarm in support of himself and Bryan first created a tumult in the house, before permanent organization had been effected.

Congressman Gillespie of Lowell was ordered to his seat when he attempted to speak, and his adherents at one time threatened to sustain him by force. Finally order was partially restored, and after a speech by Mr. Williams a recess was taken.

Afternoon Session.

The convention reassembled at 2:27 o'clock. Col. John T. Rice was elected permanent chairman.

Congressman Fitzgerald obtained the floor and said he and his friends felt insulted at the direct ruling of Chairman Doherty. The convention concluded Congressman Fitzgerald by passing a vote of confidence in Mr. Doherty.

Oliver Dowling of Boston, in a stirring speech, nominated George Fred Williams for governor. Mr. Williams was nominated by unanimous vote.

Mr. Williams was escorted to the platform and made his speech of acceptance.

SEAL CONFERENCE.

Russian Commissioner Says It Will Be Held Whether England is Represented or Not.

London, Sept. 28.—The Pall Mall Gazette publishes this afternoon a long interview with Prince Lobanoff-Rostovsky, the Russian ambassador to the Russian conference, in which Mr. Bodkine is quoted as saying that he has received any notification of the Marquis of Salisbury's objection to Russia and Japan being represented at the conference. On the other hand, the Russian official expressed the opinion that such an attitude upon the part of the Marquis of Salisbury would not delay the conference at Washington, which would be held just as if nothing had happened to change the original plans, only the British ambassador to the United States, Sir Julian Pauncefote, would be absent, which, he added, was most regrettable.

In conclusion, Mr. Bodkine reiterated the necessity for some protection to prevent the total extermination of the seals.

An Unwelcome Visitor.

Washington, Sept. 28.—It is probable that Jose Ventre, the anarchist recently expelled from France, will be sent to this country. United States Commissioner McGuire, writing from Tampico, Mexico, says that this action will likely be taken by the Mexican authorities. Every effort to get Ventre into the United States so far has failed, and it is believed that the Mexican authorities will no longer tolerate Ventre's presence in that country.

[illegible]

Convention at Lincoln Was Largely Inaugurated.

SPEECH-MAKING CONVENTION

Interest in Irrigation Spreading to Rainfall States—Next Session of the Congress May be Held at Atlanta—Resume of Irrigation Work was Given by Chairman Moses—Dr. J. G. Sutton of Ohio Claims to Have Invented a Scientific Instrument for the Location of Underground Streams.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 28.—Delegates to the irrigation congress, which began its sixth annual session today, made a record for industry in disposing of work on hand and setting a pace for more elaborate proceedings to follow. The initial session was marked by an overflow of enthusiasm on the part of the delegates and visitors. Addresses by such men as Judge Emery of Kansas, E. R. Moses of the same state, and Assistant Land Commissioner Best of Washington, D. C., did not fail to awaken interest in the movements they championed, and the sentiments they expressed were applauded and echoed by local speakers whose interest in irrigation projects is nothing the point contributed by districts where the enterprise is no longer in its infancy.

Thus far, Governor Holcomb has been the only new officer of the congress. Secretary Hertz is mentioned to be a candidate for reelection, and has strong support. Two contrasts for the next place of meeting have appeared in the cities of Atlanta, Ga., and Guthrie, Oklahoma. Atlanta appears to be generally favored.

Opening Speeches.

On behalf of the congress, Judge Emery of Lawrence, Kan., with an international reputation as an authority on irrigation subjects, responded to addresses of welcome by the governor and chancellor. His speech was a happy mixture of humor and an exposition of the question which called the congress together. So deep and abiding was his faith in irrigation for soil culture, said Judge Emery, that he, with other Kansans, had come to regard that system of farming more as the natural one and rainfall as the secondary element. He congratulated the University of Nebraska in being one of the first educational institutions in the country to take up the study of the irrigation problem. The virgin soil was the source of all wealth, and when the people learned to conserve it and by scientific means add natural to supplying the deficient moisture, it would mean regeneration not only of the west but of the sisterhood of states.

Federal Representative.

Judge Emery E. Best of Washington, D. C., assistant commissioner of the general land office, took the place of Commissioner Hermann, as a representative of the federal government, and was followed briefly by Elmer R. Mead, state engineer of Wyoming.

President Booth, after announcing various committees, addressed himself to the convention upon a carefully prepared paper.

E. R. Moses of Great Bend, Kan., chairman of the national executive committee, gave a resume of the irrigation work for the year.

Underground Streams.

The question of the possibility of locating and tracing underground streams of water was the subject of an extended and carefully prepared paper by Dr. J. G. Sutton of Ransselvania, Ohio. Dr. Sutton at the outset admitted that his subject was an unpopular one, inasmuch as it invaded a field hitherto held by water witches or those claiming to be endowed with divine power, aided by a forked stick. His existence was, however, that by following the ordinary rules of scientific research, the location of sub-surface water was possible, and having no connection with superstition and other rubbish surrounding the subject. Upon the well-established theory that the earth is a magnet, he gave in detail the results of his investigations covering a period of 12 years. Water and matter surrounding it under the surface were magnetic to such a degree, Dr. Sutton claimed, as to influence action above ground, he concluded.

"I have been cautious about falling into the error of assuming more than my experience and research seem to justify. And now, dogmatic as the assertion may appear, I conclude to you that I have been fortunate enough to devise an electromagnetic device so finely sensitive to variations in the earth's magnetism that I can enabled to accurately trace and map sub-surface streams of water."

Business Session.

Dr. Sutton's paper was the last set speech of the afternoon, and the business session followed, but was limited to the appointment of committees on permanent organization and resolutions.

California's delegate heads the list on the latter, but as it claimed to have no significance, in much as the committee will meet and select its own chairman.

The congress will reassemble tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Tonight the members of the congress were tendered an informal reception at the capitol building by Governor Holcomb and other state officers and Lincoln citizens.

YELLOW FEVER.

SITUATION AT NEW ORLEANS IS MUCH THE SAME.

Two Deaths Reported—Merchants are Growing Very Restless Under Quarantine Restrictions—Many Employes have been Thrown Out of Their Positions—Low Death Rate.

New Orleans, Sept. 28.—The yellow fever situation note continues exasperatingly the same. The daily average of from 18 to 20 cases and two deaths has kept up. But while there is no sign of an epidemical visitation, the slow progress of the disease puts a check daily in the way of the fretful merchant public, who are anxious to again resume trade with the surrounding country. The record today was not unlike that of many other days, in that it showed a small number of cases and two deaths, having a fatal ending.

The fevers are uncontrovertable that at least one-half died through neglect or lack of attention.

Signs of Revival.

Business is showing feeble signs of revival and the railroads are putting forward superhuman efforts to secure a modification of the quarantine regulations.

Dr. Oliphant's trip up the road tomorrow at the invitation of the Southern Pacific, with a view to securing a modification of existing quarantines, will settle one way or another whether or not trade is to stagnate for several weeks longer, or whether it is partially to be resumed at once.

The trip will also settle the question of whether or not New Orleans will raise the bars against Galveston and other Texas points. In the meantime, the Crescent City finds itself incapable of shipping a pound of freight to the lone star state. The result of this, of course, is the throwing out of employment of hundreds and thousands of people here. The railroads, manufacturing, the big wholesale and retail stores, have all dispensed with the services of many of their employes until business again picks up. Now that the force of senseless shotgun quarantine is being felt, the sufferers up here are more than a thousand miles away from the city. They have left behind them a certain help and have cut off many of their chances and every man, woman and child is being vaccinated.

Due to Strict Quarantine.

The situation of affairs is due entirely to the strict quarantines that have been established in the country, where there is no possible chance of an epidemic here. It is probable that there have left over some 10,000 people, and there are still here not less than 275,000, and even those who have fled to the right and left have come to realize that there is no possible chance of an epidemic. In Sept. 1878, there were between 80 and 90 people dying of yellow fever daily. The daily average since the beginning of the fever here is hardly one. Today the following deaths were reported:

LOUIS QUISNET, 1108 Dante street.
MISS EMMA FLEETWOOD, 727 Louisiana street.

There have been a total of 177 cases to date and 12 deaths. A number of patients were discharged today.

TEXAS SCOPE.

SUSPICIOUS CASE AT GALVESTON CAUSES COMMOTION.

Shotgun Quarantine will be Rigorously Enforced—Mails and Newspapers Absolutely Stopped—Onerous Restrictions Placed on Railroad Traffic—May be Quite Causeless.

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 28.—The yellow fever fright has struck the state in earnest. Nearly all the towns in eastern, central and southern Texas have established shotgun quarantine against Houston. In Brazos county, County Health Officer Tibbs has given out orders to the effect that every road entering the county will be closed and guarded and every suspicious crumb for today. No passenger trains will stop in the county hereafter, and there will be for the present no papers or other mails received. The railroad company has been notified to put in all perishable goods, flour and ice at once from the north in car lots, the same not to come from any thorough and infected point. Trains will no longer be permitted to take siding for passing in Brazos county.

In Dallas, no passengers from Houston will be permitted to stop, though there has been no embargo on freight or mail as yet. The Houston and Texas Central has practically abandoned its train service out of Houston, only one train a day running. The M. K. and T. is running its train through Houston to Galveston, the cars being locked north of Houston and nobody permitted to enter or leave the train.

An Absolute Quarantine.

Galveston's quarantine against Houston is absolute. Nothing but telegrams are passed back and forth between the two places.

Freight however, can go through Houston, but must not be stopped there. All the towns along the Southern Pacific south and east of Houston have established shotgun quarantines. Navasota, in Grimes county, is completely cooped up. There has been no mail since Wednesday and no prospect of any soon. Guards are stationed on all streets and persons not known to the guards, whether they have health certificates or not, are fumigated. There is a famine of cotton ties and newspapers have been forced to suspend business because they have no paper. Business is dead and no person is permitted to leave the country. Beaumont has quarantined against Houston. Washington county has laid an embargo on everything from all over it.

Robertson and Wharton counties have done the same.

Henderson county has established a quarantine against all infected towns.

Several coach loads of refugees from Houston went through Dallas county, but were not allowed to stop. They said there was great excitement in Houston when they left. Many of them were going to points in the mountains and the far northwest.

HOUSTON CASE.

Houston Board of Health Declares Unanimous by that it is Not Yellow Fever.

Houston, Tex., Sept. 28.—Regarding the suspicious case of fever here, the state board of health officers have requested the Houston board of health to issue the following bulletin this evening:

Case somewhat suspicious, but strictly guarded. I have no apprehension of the result. Board of health unanimous in declaring the case nothing more than inflammation of kidneys."

Panic at Victoria.

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 28.—A special to the News from Victoria says:

Yesterday's suspicious case of sickness was given to the public by Victoria's board of health, it being that of Mr. W. H. Sugg, who came to Victoria three weeks ago from East Texas. He was taken sick Sunday night and Dr. Thornton proclaimed him a suspicious case. This morning notice was given to the railroad officials that no trains would move on this division until further orders, and today Victoria is isolated. Yesterday and last night nearly every vehicle that was obtainable was engaged to take the people to the farms in the country.

Boecker's Crime.

Carroll, La., Sept. 28.—John Boecker, the murderer of his wife and five children, still lives, though his recovery is impossible. The son, Henry, shows signs of returning strength, but physicians say his wound is fatal. The bodies of the mother and children have been prepared for burial at Breda today and tomorrow. The coroner's jury empanelled yesterday has adjourned till Thursday, so no finding has been returned. It is now known that Boecker bought a supply of chloroform at Breda last week ostensibly to doctor hogs for cholera. With this he threw his family into the final sleep, and was enabled to commit the murders without resistance. Those who knew him seem to say Boecker's mind has been affected for some time.

Victor Precinct Nominations.

(Special to the Gazette.

Victor, Sept. 28.—J. B. Boylan was nominated tonight for justice of the peace and M. M. O'Keith for constable by the Victor Democrats. Silver Republicans of Victor nominated Joe Crumby for justice and Dock Wolff for constable.

Dress in the Season

Fashion's Season Takes a Backward Glance Towards the Lighter Goods—Some Effects Described.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Paris, Sept. 16—There is Indian summer here as well as at home; and for a few days fashion takes a backward glance towards the lighter goods that were in favor earlier. Paris gets, like the United States, a bit of cool weather, then comes that delightful soft period between the last of September and the middle of October. Indian summer is then at its ripest here.

There are all sorts of outdoor excursions planned. And every little autumnal frivolity is looked for. There is all carry one away from the pent-up town into the busy country, where nature is overworking herself to paint the leaves a rich crimson for Jack Frost's delectation.

I had the pleasure of witnessing a party of Americans who had driven out of Paris to gather autumn leaves in the suburbs, so giving an additional tone to Indian summer recollections. They journeyed by coach and "dik-mounted," as the bicycles say, at the first fine tree. Near by was a party of American girls sketching, for the excursionists were not opposed to such friendly spectators.

They were nicely, though not extravagantly, gowned, their dresses being the "combinations" kind that can be made from two old ones.

Autumn Leaf Prty.

Nearly all of the smart costumes were made of woollen materials, but the lightest sort of woolens, that lent themselves so well to the ruffles and puffs that have been so popular on the summer gowns. For the gowns for the fall races, while they are not made of fluffy, light material, as were the spring gowns for the races, they are certainly quite as elaborate.

Miss Dahlgren, one of the most popular young American women, was most attractive in a gown of white woollen grenadine. The grenadine had rather a coarse mesh, so that the white taffeta lining was visible. It had one of the new gored skirts, made in three pieces. Six narrow ruffles of white mousseline de soie, embroidered with black dots, trimmed the skirt. The ruffles were twice their width apart.

The corsage was a blouse of deep ivory colored satin, made with short, full sleeves. It was covered full with the figured mousseline de soie, shirred into puffs so as to form double ruches between the puffs. The sleeves of the satin were close fitting and long. They were covered with the mousseline de soie, put on in perpendicular puffs, with the ruches between. Around the neck and down the front of the bodice were double frills of the mousseline de soie that stood up in a crisp way. The girdle was a crush girdle of black velvet, facing at one side an oval Spanish buckle. It had all of that chic that is peculiar to a white and black toilet—a combination, too, that the Paris coquettes delight in.

A Leaf Effect.

Another soft woollen gown was made of cream cashmere, with a design of leaves printed in soft almond green over it. It was made up over white taffeta. The skirt was full and gored, and was gathered to the waist band with quite a little fullness at the front and sides.

The corsage was a blouse of the dahlia velvet raised enough to point to the more opening at the front. It had a vest of tucked black mousseline de soie that continued around the back to form a short round yoke. The vest and yoke were bordered with heavy cream lace, and the cream lace, trimmed with a band of black velvet and a frill of black mousseline de soie edging it, formed epaulettes. The sleeves were of almond green taffeta. They were close fitting and very long and were mounted at the top with short puffs.

At the bottom of the puffs there was a broad band of the silk laid in plaits, with a ruffle edging it. The narrow ceinture was of black velvet. Two black velvet ribbons came from the ceinture and were carried up into points on each side of the vest. The collar was a crush collar of black mousseline de soie mounted with a frill of cream lace.

So many of the prettier gowns that I noticed were made of of Scotch cashmere. They are often printed with a big design in subdued artistic colors on an ivory white background of perhaps a background in some pale color.

One of these light cashmere gowns was of the palest shade of gray. It had a full gored skirt that fitted close over the hips. At the back the fullness fell in deep folds. Four bands of white satin three inches wide trimmed the skirt. These were covered with Brussels applique lace. The edges of the bands were trimmed with narrow ruches of petunia-colored mousseline de soie.

A New Blouse.

The corsage was a blouse fastening in the left shoulder and under-arm seam. It had a short square yoke of the white satin back and front, covered with the Brussels applique. Four inches below the yoke there was a broad band of the satin covered with the lace. The edges of the yoke and band were finished with a narrow ruche of petunia mousseline de soie. The sleeves of white satin, were close fitting and covered plain with the Brussels applique. Eight narrow ruches of the petunia mousseline de soie encircled the sleeves. The epaulettes were of the lace. Petunia taffeta was employed for the ceinture. It formed two butterfly bows at the back with ends that reached nearly to the bottom of the skirt.

Mrs. Ayrley, another American woman well known among the society leaders of Diara, was much admired in a gown of cool, white nun's veiling.

The skirt had a long, close-fitting yoke. It was gored and fell in deep folds that gave the effect of a Spanish flounce. The belt was a combination of the yoke. Bands of narrow violet velvet commenced at the top of the belt and continued down to the bottom of the yoke. They were put on extremely close.

The corsage was a blouse of the ivory nun's veiling opening at the left shoulder and under-arm seam. A yoke effect was wrought with stripes of Persian embroidery worked with delicate shades of rose and violet. The embroidery was put on in five horizontal stripes with bands of the narrow violet velvet between. From the armhole seams came two slanting bands of the embroidery and velvet that formed points at the bottom of the yoke. Full bows of the velvet raised enough to point to the yoke. The same effect was repeated to form a yoke at the back. The sleeves were long, close-fitting sleeves of the nun's veiling, slightly draped at the top. They were mounted by epaulettes, trimmed with bands of the velvet.

A most striking little hat of pale rose straw, trimmed profusely with violets, went with the toilet.

These gowns are made, I am told, for "afternoons at home" later. They are worn for little outings now, thus making them do double duty.

Nina Gordwin.

Are Men Neater than Women?

Are women neater than men was a question recently asked by a cynical old bachelor who is a stern critic as to all that regards a woman's getting. This was the reply: "Women are clothed with strange vagaries, and while extremely fastidious in many ways are very heedless in others. Even the swellest society girl is not as particular as to the freshness of her collar as is the plain everyday man of business; to change his linen at least once a day is religion with most men. With women it is different; they will inspect their collars and cuffs after a day's hard wear and decide that they will do, not recognizing the fact that if any doubt exists on the matter they should be consigned to the laundry without demur.

"Again, a man is much more concerned as to the state of his shoes than a woman; even the poor clerk on the meager salary spends his nickel a day for a shine without grudging, and if it be imperative that the nickel be saved he gets up earlier in the morning and wields the blacking-brush himself. The woman will gown herself in Worth's or Paquin's largest creation and forget to look to her shoes, or be even willing to condone the loss of one or two buttons and the consequent baggy appearance of her extremities; like the peacock, she trusts to the gorgeousness of her plumage and hopes that her skirt will cover all." (Adal defence.—Commodore Montague, in Godey's Magazine for October.

"There is Indian summer here, and for a few days fashion takes a backward glance toward the lighter goods."

The bachelor girl comes back to town.
(A life sketch by Parkhurst.)

New York's Bachelor Girls

New York, September 21.—Other cities have their belles, but New York is celebrated for its bachelor girls.

They came to town the last of September and for a month they are busy settling down.

The bachelor girl comes from all over, and after she has spent the summer at home she goes back to the metropolis where no one knows her and where she can work to her heart's content, ready to put in a busy winter. It would almost be safe to say that a fifth of New York's winter population consists of girl bachelors. "Girl bachelors of Gotham" they are called, and their work comprises everything from stenography down to intricate engraving.

The week when the girl bachelor is supposed to do his professional work. She comes to New York to paint, to study music, to write, to design and to swing into low, mellow and even the ministry, but as a matter of fact comparatively few girl bachelors choose these beaten tracks but prefer to branch out for themselves into more open fields of usefulness.

The typical girl bachelor is extremely well dressed. She earns her money, of course, but she knows how to spend it to advantage, which the home girl cannot always claim, and she lives well. She knows what and how to eat, and when to say and where to say it. She is always delightfully at home, and she presents various other charming earmarks, by which you soon learn to know her.

It was claimed last year, in the haunts of girl bachelordom, that the greatest success had been made by young women who had gone into beaten tracks and had worked upon old things, carrying new methods into them. One girl bachelor made a success as a hotel keeper. She hired a little road-house on a bicycle path and there furnished little suppers to cyclists. Her few well-furnished rooms were leased all the season to enthusiasts who could not bear to get too far away from the bicycle roads. She "made money" and will take the hotel another year.

A favorite occupation with the girl bachelor in New York—with a little capital—is the keeping of a candy store. She learns how to make her most costly confections, and after awhile buys only her cheap candies, her "penny goods." She gets those from some well known house, and in return secures their permission to use their name on her front door. Her trays are of copper, polished very bright, and she puts in eight hours a day waiting on the counter herself.

One of the advantages of the girl bachelor who comes to New York is that she can do as she pleases without being detected, for there is no place like New York in which to hide yourself. She does not lose her social standing if she "tends shop," and this she cannot always say of herself in her own neighborhood.

There are few women florists in New York, because, contrary to supposition, flower work is very dirty work. It is wet and hard upon the hands, and for that reason but few girl bachelors have drifted into it.

A great majority are in what is sometimes called the half-professions. These comprise stenography, very expert typewriting, bookkeeping and private secretaryship. These afford a good living and give the bachelor girl standing which she cannot always secure in trade. The post of private secretary is most coveted.

The girl bachelor who comes to New York must have with her a nice sum of money. Margaret Sangster is quoted as saying that a girl who "knows how to do something" can go to New York on $100. Marion Harland once placed the price at $75, but the girl bachelor will feel a great deal safer if she has $500 in her pocket, though she need not spend it if she does not want to.

The cost of living in New York is dear. There is no need of saying that you can board in Harlem cheap, because you can't. You may get your board for $5 a week, but your car fare and lunches eat into your salary, and you will find that, in each an out-of-the-way place, you have to journey an hour night and morning to get to and from home.

A more sensible and at the same time low estimate of the cost of living in New York is this:

	Per week.
Boarding and lodging	$7
Lunches and car fare	3
Laundry	1
Shoes and other necessities	2

This foots up $13 without any trouble and the girl bachelor still has to dress herself.

It is part of the scheme of the bachelor girl of Gotham to provide for herself entirely, but if she is a sensible girl, while she is on the lower grounds of the ladder she will board with friends adjacent to her business, if possible, and will thus cut down her expenses several dollars per week. It is safe to say that in New York city the girl who doesn't "live at home" must have $15 a week to keep up an appearance, and girl bachelors who are going to struggle along on less had better give it up in the first place. There is on lower Fifth avenue a large apartment house, in which several girl bachelors have flats. These flats consist of four rooms, and are occupied by half a dozen girls who take turns at cooking and doing their own housework. Twice a week they get dinner out, so that the burden of cooking and washing dishes does not become drudgery.

But for this the very nicest executive ability is required and where one party of girl bachelors succeed five go under, stranded on the shoals of discontent and domestic unevenness.

A very wise writer recently said that girl bachelors failed in New York because they came here strangers and expected to live like friends, but the sensible girl bachelor must realize that in coming to a strange city she must pay for everything she receives. It will be strictly pay and take with her, and she will need three times the sum upon which she has calculated at home. One friendly dinner means so many cents paid out, and what would be nickles if she lived at home barely suffices her if she must pay for everything.

The girl bachelor's outfit when she comes to Gotham should be, if she can get them, three good tweed or cloth dresses and three pretty silk waists. She should have an enveloping cape and a warm coat and two substantial hats. With these packed in her modest little trunk and a "grip" for emergencies she can face New York city pretty secure in a livelihood, providing always that she can "do something."

The girl bachelors who have made great successes say that they have done so by pleading their own merits and not by asking pity, sympathy or charity. They have come to a great town, saying "I can do that work for you better than you are now getting it done and cheaper. Try me." That is the beginning of success, they say.

Many of Gotham's girl bachelors are on the path to riches. They have businesses of their own which they can leave in summer. One rather famous one owns a hair store, which she deserts in the summer while she sings in a suburban choir, thus earning her vacation. She provides herself with every luxury, and says that she will be the first new woman of 1900 to be a self-made millionaire.

New York holds out its hand to the girl bachelor and only begs her to come and try. Gotham's eyes expect her, and every place of business from Harlem to the Battery is on the lookout for her at this time of year.

Helen Ward.

Elegant costume of fine gray ora'ine cloth. It is entirely trimmed with same shade corn pipings of silk. Yoke of cream lace net. Circular skirt. Close-fitting sleeves, with short puffs. Lace epaulettes. Material required: Cloth, 45 inches wide, eight yards; net, 22 inches wide, three-quarters of a yard.—(Toilettes.

[illegible] Salvation Army Leader

[illegible] Speeches at the Temple Theater [illegible] Crowds.

America's Salvation Army Leader was in the City Yesterday, Accompanied by His Distinguished Wife, the Consul — Attends the Outdoor Meeting of the Salvation Army—His Speech at the Temple Theater Last Night — Introduced by Dr. Slocum—Prominent People in Attendance — Brigadier Alice Lewis, the Reformed Opera Singer — Vast Concourse of People—The Commander Talks—Mr. Davis of the Santa Fe Interested.

Sunday was a red-letter day in the history of the Salvation Army of this city. Commander Booth-Tucker, who directs the affairs of the army in America, arrived at 5.30 a.m. in special car No. 99 of the Santa Fe railway, and spent the day in the city. Accompanying the commander was his excellent wife, who is the daughter of General Booth, Brigadier Alice Lewis, a reformed grand opera singer, who is possessed of a magnificent voice, and several other high officials of the army.

Accompanying the commander and his party was Mr. J. A. Davis, the industrial commissioner of the Santa Fe railway, who is acting as chaperon on the tour of inspection, the prime object of which is the selection of a suitable tract of land at some point in Colorado which can be utilized for colonization purposes.

Commander Booth-Tucker is on a mission which may be destined to revolutionize all colonization ideas heretofore conceived. His scheme is endorsed by prominent people all over the country, and the fact that one such scheme has been successfully launched in California will aid him materially in its work in this state. The Santa Fe railroad is now assisting him in every way possible, and through the efforts of Mr. Davis, the industrial commissioner of the road, the head of the army work has done such noble work among the lower classes as being shown after the most important agricultural localities of the state.

At 7 o'clock Sunday evening Commander Booth-Tucker made his first public appearance in the city. The Salvationists held a grand open air meeting in front of the postoffice, at which the commander took an active part.

No services were held at the majority of the churches in the city in order that the members of the congregations might attend the meeting at the Temple theater. The crowds began gathering long before the opening of the doors, and when the exercises began every seat in the house was occupied, while the aisles were packed and hundreds were turned away who could not gain admission.

On the stage were seated Mayor Irvine and wife, Secretary Lloyd of the Y. M. C. A., President Slocum of Colorado college, Rev. W. H. W. Boyle, Rev. Dr. Gregg, Rev. C. F. Marsden, Rev. Edw. Braislin, Rev. W. G. Templeton, Brigadier Alice Lewis, Mrs. Williams, Captain Blackburn and Lieutenant Swanson of the local army, Staff Captain Burrows, Captain McIndoo, Mr. H. H. Schlomdrige, Mr. L. E. Sherman, Mr. J. S. Gibson and many other prominent citizens besides members of the local army.

THE COMMANDER TALKS.

Head of the Salvation Army Tells of the Colonization Scheme—Great Work Undertaken.

Commander Booth-Tucker, the son-in-law of General Booth, the man who recently succeeded Balinzion Booth as the head of the Salvation Army in America, is a man of perhaps 35 years of age, tall and commanding, and an exceedingly good conversationalist.

He was seen Sunday in his private car at the Santa Fe depot and talked interestingly of his colonization scheme.

"I took the Arkansas valley in the region of Rocky Ford as the one adapted for colonization purposes, although I shall inspect other places in the vicinity of Lamar and shall not decide on a location until I have visited all the localities which I think favorable.

"We desire to raise $100,000 and expect to secure enough land on which 10,000 people can make a comfortable living, and our object is to give people who desire to make an honest living, a chance to do so. By removing these people who are willing to work from the overcrowded cities and giving them an opportunity to not only make a living but to eventually own their own homes, I think we will be able to do a world of good for the laboring classes who are unable to obtain work.

"We do not ask alms in this work. It is simply a business proposition and I think we shall experience little difficulty in securing all the money we need at a small rate of interest."

The Santa Fe Interested.

The Santa Fe railway is considerably interested in the colonization scheme of Commander Booth-Tucker. Mr. J. A. Davis, the industrial commissioner of the road, is traveling with the commander in a private car, and takes great pains to show him the entire country on this trip.

Mr. Davis himself is a thorough believer in the colonization scheme and says that the Salvationists are in earnest.

"Their zeal and honesty will certainly make this scheme a success," said Mr. Davis. "And I think they can secure all of the financial backing they care for."

The distinguished party will leave this morning for Lamar over the Santa Fe, where the lands in this vicinity will be thoroughly inspected.

WOMAN'S SHAME.

The Freshmen, Poor Boys, Will Have to Be Content With Umbrellas or Parasols for a Whole Year.

The college cane rush is over and the freshmen are downcast, while the sophomores are hilarious. Their hard-earned victory was well deserved, for surely no Roman gladiators ever fought for life more vigorously than these brawny boys for the glory and honor of the class of 1900.

This rush was a genuine terror. From the moment the referee's whistle blew until the last second of the eighth minute the scene around the cane was one of furious struggle. Clouds of dust, a confused tangle of arms and legs and bodies of contestants hurled like catapults through the atmosphere; yells of spectators and labored breathing of the rushers formed a spectacle that rivaled the most exciting center rush ever played.

The freshmen numbered 22, while the sophomores could count but 15 in their ranks. Outnumbered, outweighed and against great odds, the sophomores won by sheer pluck and endurance. When time was called and the hands of the exhausted contestants were counted it was shown that the sophomores had 11 hands upon the cane while the freshmen had but six.

Amid the cheers and congratulations for the victors and sympathies for the vanquished, the bedraggled, dust-begrimed, and half-suffocated were borne to their rooms.

The freshmen put up a game fight and died hard. While they had the advantage in weight and numbers, they lacked that unity of action and solid, never-say-die nerve which characterized their opponents.

The utmost good feeling prevailed, and after the rush victor shook hands with and cheered for the vanquished. Mr. H. P. Packard acted as referee, Mr. Lester McLean as umpire, and Mr. G. B. Jaukes as time-keeper.

Last night the valiant sophomores held high carnival in the gymnasium. After a rousing sophomore yell, the joyous party broke up and sophomores retired to dream of the way they kept the lower classmen from carrying canes this year.

DOUGLAS VS. ASSESSOR.

THIS WAS DECIDED AT A MEETING LAST NIGHT.

The Carnival Committee Has Taken Charge of the Enterprise and the Building Will Be Erected—Committee of Four Selected to Decide on Location.

The city casino idea took definite shape last night and the plan as published in Saturday's Gazette for a casino to be built at some place near the center of the city, to be kept open all the year, is now in a fair way to be pushed forward to completion.

Last night the carnival committee, composed of Messrs. E. Barnett, George R. Buckman, D. V. Donaldson, J. G. Shields, R. B. Taylor and Mrs. E. C. Goddard, met at the residence of Mr. Shields and spent the evening discussing plans for an amusement resort which will be built in the city and kept open all the year. It was definitely decided that a casino would be built, and a committee of four was appointed to inspect suitable locations and report upon the most feasible one. This committee has several locations in view, but the members will give no information of where the new building will be located until an option on the land can be secured.

The meeting last night was a most enthusiastic one, and the gentlemen interested say that no trouble whatever will be encountered in raising the necessary money.

DEMOCRATS OF COURT.

C. A. Vernon of Victor Sent to Jail for Failure to Pay Temporary Alimony.

Charles A. Joshua Vernon, a well known young man of Victor, now languishes behind the bars of El Paso county jail because of his contempt of court. The failure of Vernon to pay temporary alimony granted by Judge Hagaman is responsible for Vernon's stay in jail.

Several months ago a suit was filed in the district court by May A. Vernon against her husband, C. A. Vernon. The case came up on the 28th day of June last, and the plaintiff was awarded $20 per week temporary alimony in case being continued until the fall term of court. When the case was called before Judge Harris yesterday a number of affidavits were introduced to show that the alimony had not been paid and that Vernon had been accustomed to spend his money on dance hall girls and riotous living. Judge Vaughn, of Cripple Creek, attorney for the defendant asked for a continuance of the case until Wednesday to enable him to make a counter showing to the affidavits. The case was continued, but the temporary alimony had not been paid and Judge Harris cited Vernon to jail for contempt of court, and all the afternoon his friends tried to secure the necessary bondsmen, but he was unable to do so, and he accordingly spent the night in jail.

Mr. Hooker of Denver spent the Sabbath in the Springs.

Mr. A. Matthews, traveling passenger agent of the Burlington, is in the city.

Mrs. M. N. Bailey returned to her home in Kansas City yesterday after a visit of several weeks in the city.

Mr. D. Kelley, who has been sojourning in the city for several weeks, returned to Kansas City last evening.

Mrs. Becker and Miss Watson, leave today for Denver and will remain through the Mountain and Plain Festival.

Mr. Chas. Martin of Cripple Creek spent Sunday in the Springs.

Mr. C. F. Sheibenberger of Denver was in the city Sunday visiting Mr. C. L. West.

Mr. F. J. Arkins, editor of the Cripple Creek Times, is spending a few days in the city.

Mr. Richard Hutton, who has been in Canada on business, is expected home in a few days.

The Cliff house does not close until November 1st. The hotel is doing the best September business in its history.

Mr. Bert Simmons, a prominent mining man of Cripple Creek, spent Sunday in the city and went to Denver that night.

Miss Maud McMullan, late of the Gazette staff as artist, is now studying to be a trained nurse. She is in St. Luke's hospital, Denver.

And now the latest reported strike comes from Roswell. It is claimed that on a property in this suburb close to the creek, an inquisitive prospector panned several colors.

Mr. Charles L. West, the popular prescription clerk who has recently been ill, resumed his duties Sunday with Mr. Otto Schringer, the Tejon street druggist.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Toole leave this week for St. Joe, where they will spend the winter. Their many friends in Manitou and Colorado Springs will greatly regret their departure and will heartily welcome their return in the spring.

Mr. D. V. Donaldson of this city, secretary of the Colorado Electric company, may secure a big contract and none less than the lighting of the Royal Gorge with electricity. The running time of the trains through this remarkable canon is so arranged that tourists are compelled to pass through it at night, and thus are prevented from viewing its beauties. To obviate this the railroad company proposes to make it as light as day, and if anything, to add to its scenic beauties because of the accentuated lights and shadows which must play over and between the rocks.

Mrs. Chas. A. Pratt, whose health has been failing for many months, leaves today for San Diego, Cal., to be absent all winter. She is accompanied by her daughter Calista.

In division 2 of the district court yesterday the jury brought in a verdict in favor of the defendant in the suit entitled Kennedy vs. McDougall. It was the Blue Point adversing the Mary Magee.

[illegible] Forces [illegible] Congressional [illegible]

[illegible] Conference [illegible] Citizens.

[illegible] GRABBERS GET THERE

J. Maurice Finn Lands the Big Prize—County Ticket Headed by Doc Lewis—Manitou's Renomination Failure as Mayor Aspires to the Position of Sheriff and is Indorsed by the "Reform" Forces—A Cripple Creek Doctor for Clerk and a Cripple Creek Undertaker for Coroner—Colorado Springs Gets Two Places on the Ticket and is Represented by Miss Lucretia Allen and M. M. Sinton.

District Attorney:
J. MAURICE FINN.
Democrat, Cripple Creek.
County Clerk:
W. G. LIGGETT.
Silver Republican, Cripple Creek.
County Treasurer:
W. E. ROHDE.
Populist, Victor.
Sheriff:
DR. A. G. LEWIS.
National Silver, Manitou.
Coroner:
CHARLES J. HALLETT.
Silver Republican, Cripple Creek.
Assessor:
M. J. LEIGHTON.
Populist, Altman.
Surveyor:
C. J. CODDING.
Democrat, Cripple Creek.
Superintendent of Schools:
LUCRETIA ALLEN.
Democrat, Colorado Springs.
County Commissioner:
M. M. SINTON.
Populist, Colorado Springs.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, Sept. 22.—The fusion delegates representing the Populists, Democratic National party and the Mining Exchange held one session of the Silver Republican party convention in the rooms of the Booth Furniture company.

The following result was:

Silver Republicans—D. P. Howard, W. A. Utter, J. J. Warnock, O. S. Porter, James Wilson, Joseph Winchester, and E. C. Corey.

Democrats—Van E. Rouse, D. S. Hall, A. Roy Jr., J. A. Richardson, A. G. White, R. L. Logan, G. W. Lawrence, T. B. Lyle.

Populists—W. F. Robin, G. M. Hornbeck, Joan Calderwood, Miss Lyle Harris, D. W. Robbins, James Tropay, Frank Lonergan.

National Silver—J. L. Santmyer, G. W. Andrews, C. B. Weck, J. L. Rose, O. R. Soper, A. J. Hagan, F. N. Briggs.

Dividing the Offices.

Frank Biggs, of the Victor Record, was made chairman and J. Royal, Jr., secretary. The question of the basis upon which to fuse was discussed, and finally a motion was carried to appoint a committee of one from each of the four delegations to consult together and report back to their several delegations as to which offices each party would insist upon by way of representation upon the ticket.

After two or three consultations it was agreed that the committee made a report to the convention of the effect that the entire fusion had then agreed upon, excepting as to the office of sheriff, which was claimed by both the National Silver and Democratic parties.

The report of the convention was taken, and was so largely in favor of going to the Silver party that the Democrats accepted the decision of the convention and acquiesced in the result.

Executive Committee.

An executive fusion committee was selected, composed of the chairmen and the secretaries of the county central committees of the different parties represented.

The representation upon the ticket was as follows: Populists, treasurer, county commissioner, and assessor; National Silver party, sheriff; Silver Republicans, county clerk and coroner; Democrats, district attorney, superintendent of public instruction and surveyor.

The Ticket.

The ticket as completed, was as follows:

County Clerk—W. G. Liggett, of Cripple Creek.

County Treasurer—W. E. Rohde, of Victor.

Sheriff—Dr. A. G. Lewis, of Manitou.

Coroner—C. J. Hallett, of Cripple Creek.

Assessor—M. J. Leighton, of Altman.

Surveyor—C. J. Codding, of Gillett.

Superintendent of Schools—Lucretia Allen of Colorado Springs.

County Commissioner—M. M. Sinton, of Colorado Springs.

District Attorney—J. Maurice Finn, of Cripple Creek.

The convention at midnight adjourned.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS.

Harmony Prevailed and Musser Had His Way in the Democratic Convention—Howell's Bad Break.

The political doldrums was still in evidence this morning when the Democratic and Silver Republican conventions were ready to resume business.

The Democrats met promptly at 11:30 o'clock in the Grand Opera house to complete the business of the convention, which had been postponed the day previous. Mr. Harry Seldomridge, the leader of the Colorado Springs forces, was conspicuous by his absence, but George Musser led the delegates from the eastern end of the county, and Colorado Springs received everything they asked for. Chairman Bassett called the convention to order and the nominations were quickly taken up.

No time was wasted and Alderman D. R. McArthur of Cripple Creek was placed in nomination for county clerk by F. J. Hangs, and E. S. Cohen of Colorado Springs by Mrs. Dillon. On roll call Mr. Cohen received 1[illegible] and McArthur 57. For county treasurer the race was close and there was much excitement, it taking three ballots to decide the matter. The nomination lay between J. S. Gibson of Colorado Springs and Mr. A. Royal, Jr., the present postmaster of Victor. On the third ballot Gibson received 14 votes and Royal 172. On motion of the latter the nomination was declared to be unanimous. Sheriff came next, and considerable interest centered here, but a neat speech which did much to elect his nominee, the delegate from Goldfield placed the name of Tom Howell in nomination. It was seconded by Dr. Lawrence of Colorado Springs. Ed. McDaniels was nominated by Attorney Bichson of Cripple Creek. The Cripple Creek vote was split, Colorado Springs gave a handsome majority of its votes to Howell, and Victor's almost unanimous ballot placed Howell in the lead by a vote of 111 to McDaniels' 86. It took but one ballot.

Loud cries for Howell called the gentleman to the stage, and in his speech of acceptance Mr. Howell made an awful break. He began by thanking the delegates for the honor conferred upon him and pledged himself, if elected, to do everything in his power to further the ends of the Democratic party. A pledge to the faithful performance of his duty was not made, and considerable unfavorable comment was caused by the speech as the inference was made that he would only accept it in order to further political ends. Howell's break was the subject of criticism on all sides.

Assessor came next, W. A. Stewart of Victor getting the nomination. For county commissioner, David Meshane was nominated. County superintendent went to Miss Lucretia Allen of Colorado Springs. Coroner went to Dr. S. A. Benson of Anaconda, and surveyor to C. H. Codding of Gillett.

TWO STRONG SERVES.

The Silver Republicans Split a Second Time in Judicial Convention—The Nominees.

The judicial convention of the Silver Republicans met this morning in the Butte Opera house to nominate a candidate for district attorney. The same deadlock prevailed in the judicial convention which was in part in the county convention. Forty-two delegates from the Florence-Spring Creek district managed to secure recognition and 42 delegates representing the McKinley-Tarsiff district also claimed admission. Chairman Bassett was a unique and he wielded confusion prevailed. The chairman declared the convention adjourned for 10 days, but the delegates did not want it this way. The Florence-Spring Creek delegates held a meeting with E. C. Corey as chairman and Jim Wilson secretary. Harry Teague of Cripple Creek and Arthur Lange of Victor were nominated for district attorney.

W. A. Tarsiff took the stand and explained that the Florence-Spring Creek delegates had demonstrated their choice for District Attorney by nominating James Owen for that position.

SCRAP IN OLD TOWN.

William Tucker Seriously Cut in a Saloon Row—Wins, the Assailant, Escaped.

A serious cutting affray occurred in the saloon on Colorado avenue, "Old Town," Thursday night at 10:30. William Tucker [illegible] William Wins, a [illegible] Wins, a [illegible] piano player at [illegible] Tucker [illegible] Wins [illegible] Tucker [illegible] company with [illegible] Wins [illegible] Tucker [illegible] Wins [illegible] Tucker [illegible] Wins [illegible] Tucker

[illegible] Acres of Cripple Creek Territory Purchased.

[illegible] INTERESTS.

It Includes the Town of Goldfield and All the Mineral Rights—It Will Probably Become the Camp's Railroad Center—Price Is Placed at $175,000—Ground Probably Contains Rich Minerals—Surrounded and Cut Into By Some of the Biggest Mines in the District.

One of the largest deals consummated in the Cripple Creek district of late is that which conveys the property of the Portland Town and Mineral company to the Gold King Mining company.

The above does not have much significance to the reading public, and the matter will probably be better explained by making the statement that the seller is the company owning the town of Goldfield, in the Cripple Creek district, of which Mr. Philip Zang, the well-known brewer of Denver, is the heaviest stockholder and president. More important, probably, is the fact that the Gold King Mining company is only another name for Messrs. D. H. Moffat, Ed. Smith and Bill Small.

The price paid for the territory owned by the Portland Town and Mineral company by Messrs. Moffat & Co., is said to be in the neighborhood of $175,000, and the fact that the deal was entered into goes to show that the purchasers have every faith in the Cripple Creek district. The purchase will undoubtedly be made to cover many requirements. It is an open secret that Mr. Moffat is trying hard to get hold of a big share and a controlling interest in possession of the Portland stock and these things go to show that Colorado's great millionaire believes in a big future for El Paso's great gold camp.

Over 200 Acres.

The town of Goldfield, with over 200 blocks, of lots and large mineral rights and the Portland Town and Mineral company owning them have never been attacked, of very much in the newspapers or by anyone outside of those directly interested. It is a big possession, however, and the deal which has just been carried out is a very important one.

The ground extends over 200 acres and it is understood that all mineral rights are held by the new company in all this territory.

The town of Goldfield has been seen by all visitors to Cripple Creek travelling over the Midland Terminal. It is located between Arman, Gillett and Victor, at the foot of Bull hill mountain. It is already quite well populated and promises to be more so in the near future. There is a promise of a good hotel being erected there, and the Victor Light, Water and Power company has already secured the right of way for lights in the town.

The territory purchased is full 200 acres, and lies north and to the south of the Stratton, Independence and Golden Cycle, to the east the Portland group, while to the west lies the Big Bull hill. Running almost into the center of the property lies the well-known prospect hole in the Theresa, Vindicator, Little and Legal Tender group, the latter being owned by the Golden Cycle company, it is said, and is Mr. D. H. Moffat.

A Railroad Center.

Rumor has it that the town of Goldfield is to become the railroad center of the Cripple Creek district.

It is said, at this point that five roads—Midland Terminal, Florence and Cripple Creek—come together on this site, and which after following each other around all the hills at a different elevation, it is claimed that Mr. Moffat's new possession will eventually come to prove as valuable as, and that the Midland people may be glad to pay the same privilege.

It is said that each railroad contemplates adding a third rail to its tracks so that the rolling stock may be used on their line, but the statement needs verification.

From the town the Florence and Cripple Creek tracks are being taken up into Arizona and to the Stratton's American Eagle claims.

The electric railway has laid its tracks along Main street, connecting with Altman, Victor and other parts of the camp.

A Valuable Territory.

Included in the deal are a large number of lode claims among which are the Picnic, Extension, Bench and Ready, Angel, War Eagle, Spring, Mint, Lake, Dolly, Pertipas, Fraction, Dery, Cuba, Peerless, Aluminum, Lone Star, Gleason, that part of the Aluminum lode adjoining claim included within its location, certain claims included in the Anna, Jo, Ruth No. 1, Emma, Black Bear, Old Ace, Anna, Lucky Friday, Wonderwurst, Tonopah, also undivided one-half interest in the Ore and Venus M. and Banner and Silver, also certain portion of the Fanrick as surveyed ground to the depth of 25 feet below the surface within the lode and Mary Anna, Cut Diamond, Gem, Mary Mack, Wilson, Texas Jack, and also Gold Reserve and Reverse Cutter.

It is thought that a good many of the well known veins, such as those found in the Lee, Theresa, Vindicator, Legal Tender and La Bolle pass through the ground and it is said that a large amount of work is to be done there to determine the fact.

VERY SATISFACTORY.

The Shipments Made During the Week Indicate a Heavy Month.

The shipments made from the Cripple Creek district last week so far as can be learned at this early date, were very satisfactory. In the minds of some there appears to be an idea that something of an extra effort is being made to increase the production during the closing months of the year, but the more conservative thinkers know that the gradual increase is a perfectly natural one. It is the outcome of steady development work which is constantly in progress in the principal mines which is added to by the new strikes which are frequently being made and in which a good proportion of instances are found to be of more than average merit. From the present showing it would appear that the output of September will prove it to have been the banner month of the camp, both as to the quantity and quality of the ores produced.

Following are a few of the shipments made during the past week:

Lillie-Arcadia.

Lessees Howbert and Wilson have been saving up ore during the week from both the Lillie and Arcadia workings, which they are operating under one lease. Since they took hold, however, most of the time has been spent in doing development work which will be made to count in the future.

Raven.

Shipments from the Raven company's workings amounted to 26 tons last week. It was about equally divided between high grade and medium grade ore.

Work.

Lessees have been responsible for all the shipments made from the Work company's properties last week. The company is still busy with development work, but expects to be in ore again about the middle of next month.

Messrs. Creighton and Murphy, who are operating one of the leases, sent out 12 tons during the week which it is thought will average about $25 per tons. Another shipment was expected to be made yesterday. It was of aher 12 ton lot with an estimated value of about $14 per ton.

Mr. Smith, working on leases A. I. C., sent out nine tons of ore on the 21st. It had an average value of $21.65 per ton.

Specimen.

A number of shipments have been made by the lessees on the Specimen during the past week, but up to date the records of only two have been received at headquarters. These amounted to about 15 tons and consisted of low grade ore.

The new strike reported exclusively in the columns of the Gazette a few days ago, is showing up very well.

Anchoria-Leland.

Shipments from the Anchoria-Leland company's properties during the past six days have been a little heavier than usual. The total was about 225 tons, but the grade of ore was hardly up to the average. It is thought that the month of September will show heavier shipments by the company than during any previous month. Nothing but smelting ore is being shipped and has not been shipped for the past six months, or since March last. Very little is being taken out, in fact, and only that which has to be removed in extracting the higher grades.

The new strike reported exclusively in these columns is holding out well, the ore showing values of from 2½ to 10 ounces per ton. For the past week the tests on this new vein have run from 2 to 47 ounces, or from $40 to $940 per ton. The vein is five feet wide and the high values mentioned above run from 14 to 18 inches wide. The new ore body is being developed and an upraise has been put in a distance of 25 feet. From present indications it is a good, rich, permanent strike.

Ingham.

About 75 tons of ore went out from the Ingham Consolidated company's properties last week. About 40 tons of this was third grade ore and the remaining 35 tons second class stuff.

A great deal of development work is being done in the mine and a good deal of the time has been expended in that direction.

Dante.

A trial shipment was made from the main workings in the Dante last week and some of the ore came from the new strike made there. The new find is making a favorable showing and having located its probable direction, a cross-cut has been run from the 250-foot mark in the shaft to cut at that depth. The find was made at a depth of 150 feet, so it is intended to cut it 100 feet deeper.

Elkton.

In direct contrast to the way in which the stock has been behaving during the past week the shipments from the Elkton mine continue as steady as ever. During the past six days 14 cars of ore left the mine consisting of two containing first-class ore, four second-class and eight third-class.

Moon-Anchor.

The ore bunkers have been busy around the Moon-Anchor during the past week and six cars of medium-grade smelting ore have been sent away.

About the middle of next week, and to close the month, a train load of ore will be sent out from the mine, consisting probably of from 12 to 14 cars of ore. It will consist of high and medium grade ore.

In spite of these big shipments but very little stoping is being done in the mine, and there is a large quantity of ore of all grades in sight.

The new ore chute encountered on the fourth level has now been drifted on for a distance of 120 feet by measurement yesterday morning. The south end of the drift the direction in which it is being driven, is looking fine and at the end of this big chute is no doubt.

Union.

Lessees and company both made shipments from the Union company's properties last week. The company sent out four broad gauge cars of ore from the Orpha May. Lessees Moore and Wilson sent out the following from the Pike's Peak: First grade, 60 tons; second grade, 10 tons; third grade, 15 tons; fourth grade, 10 tons. The 10 tons of this last grade stuff is expected to return about nine ounces to the ton.

The lessees on the Orpha May dump sent out 26 tons of low grade stuff during the week.

Monument.

It is reported that the Monument, on Bull hill mountain, is again in motion and that shipments will soon be made again. The strike was made on Thursday last.

NEWS OF THE CAMP.

Cripple Creek, Sept. 25.—Lessees Hopkins and Keith on the Mountain Monarch, are picking up quite a number of shipments made by Adams & company, former lessees on the property. A car load is about ready for shipment which looks to be good for $25 per ton.

A plant of machinery was yesterday put on the sub-lease from Hoskins and Keith on the north end of the Mountain Monarch, operated by Allen and others. The lessees have been drifting on a vein at a depth of 50 feet, and have opened up a body of ore between three and a half and four feet wide which averages between $30 and $40. Some streaks of the vein will assay as high as $200. The lessees will begin hoisting ore at once.

Ironclad Ore Chute.

Manager Schumacher of the Ironclad yesterday broke into two feet of $437 ore and an inch streak of $110 ore. The discovery was made in a winze on which work has been going on for some time.

The Hartzell stamp mill is again in operation and Manager Hartzell expects shortly to be running day and night.

The output from the Dolly Varden for the last month has come from the shallow workings known as the old Dolly shaft. The shipments were two cars of second grade ore, estimated at $40 a ton. Crosscutting for the vein is still in progress from the new shaft. At a depth of 275 feet, the crosscut is now something like 25 feet beyond the apex of the vein but the dip of the vein is such that it has not yet been reached.

An eighth interest in the Creighton lease on the south end of the Morning Glory, has just changed hands, Mr. Murphy disposing of his eighth to Messrs. Dauchy and Robinson. The price is reported as $1,000 cash.

Clearing the Burns Shaft.

Water was being cleared today from below the 700-foot level of the Burns shaft of the Portland by means of a number 5 Cameron sinking pump. The water was reduced from 100 feet to 50 feet. As soon as the shaft is cleared sinking will be resumed. It is thought that unless a new or a heavier flow of water is encountered the mine will remain dry during the fall and winter months.

An extraordinary vein of sylvanite ore has been opened up on the south portion of the Longfellow on Bull hill. That part of the claim lying south of the Midland track is under lease to the Logan Mining and Leasing company. The company has been drifting on the vein from the 50-foot level of an old shaft and while they have at times encountered pockets and had good assays nothing like the present has ever been made. The ore body is from three to four feet wide and the management believe that the entire body is shipping ore. A high grade shipment is being made up which is expected to average 40 ounces. The shaft is equipped with a good plant of machinery and the company has more than a year remaining on its lease.

An Initial Shipment.

An initial shipment of 10 tons, five to the Rio Grande sampler and five to the Cripple Creek sampler, is soon to be sent out from the Corrington lease on the Stuart on Tenderfoot hill. An effort is being made to have Colorado Springs people build a small custom stamp mill on Iron mountain for the benefit of miners in that part of the camp who have mill stuff which could be treated profitably on the spot but which could not stand the expense of heavy charges for hauling. The Hall stamp mill on Iron mountain will be ready for work probably by Nov. 1, but it will be a private and not a custom mill.

A plant of machinery for shaft No. 2 of the Midget on Gold hill arrived Monday from Denver and is being put into place.

On the Lone Star.

Howbert and Cobb, sub-lessees on the Lone Star of the Arcadia company, have that property out of water and have a good sized force of men at work in the stopes breaking down ore which is said to run better than a medium grade.

The cost to the sub-lessees of clearing the mine of water and getting the property into condition for shipments is stated at $1000. Nat Wilson, foreman of the Moon Anchor, who was originally associated with Howbert and Cobb in the operation of the Lone Star together with the Lillie of the Franklin-Robb company has retired from the partnership.

A Final Payment.

Dennis Sullivan of Denver today made a payment of $27,750 on the Lindsay lease, it being the final payment on the $50,000 due J. L. Lindsay, R. H. Simmons, Sam O'Connell and A. C. Hickman for their lease on block 22 of the Arequa townsite. This gives Mr. Sullivan a title merely to a lease on the property on which he holds a bond for $50,000, which expires October 20, by which time it will, without doubt be taken up. Lindsay and his associates last October secured a bond and lease from the owners, Bennett and Myers, of Denver, the bond calling for $50,000 and the lease running one year. Some time ago the lessees contracted to dispose of their option to Mr. Sullivan for the sum of $50,000. Five thousand dollars was paid down at the time, other payments have since been made and the deposit today placed to their credit in the First National bank of Cripple Creek closes the business, so far as the lessees are concerned. Since assuming control of the lease Mr. Sullivan has made no attempt at production but has done considerable development. The shaft has been sunk to a depth of 165 feet, making it the deepest on Beacon hill and various drifts have been run to block out the ore. Such ore as has been shipped has been taken out in the course of development and the amount expended by Mr. Sullivan in this work is something like $25,000, with perhaps $10,000 to his credit from ore shipped, so that he really pays a total of about $115,000 for about six acres of land embracing all of block 22 and a portion of block 21. This block lies alongside block 18, purchased last week by A. Royal, Jr., for $50,000 cash.

What is believed to be a continuation of the Crow and Stirelar orebodies on the May Queen has been opened on the same property by lessees Barbee and Darnell.

Santa Rita Shipment.

A carload shipment will be sent out from the Santa Rita mine a Victor in a few days which will range in value from $80 to $200 per ton. The ore has been taken out in the course of development work.

Water has begun to come into the workings of the Jackson lease on the Lonar, vein. The lessees will sink a pump to notify it out of the way and work will be pushed.

Improvements on the mine and equipment of the Little May have been completed and the lessee Howell asks for lots of men as work in the shaft begins to crosscut. New hoisting cables have been built, new buckets and the whole place overhauled.

Lucky Corner Prospects.

Lessees Livingston and Stevenson of the Lucky Corner, are doing up to the Magnet Rock company feel very much encouraged over the prospect of making a shipment of their lease. Of late they have been drifting on a vein supposed to be an extension of the Jack Pot, but without shipping value. During the last week they have come to the edge of the ore chute, and values on the vein assay between $25 and $75.

In another 24 hours the sinking shaft will have been dead of water, and work in the lower levels can be resumed. Some time ago a heavy flow of water overwhelmed the No. 7 pump which has been used for the purpose. The No. 5 pump was sent on, but it was found necessary to increase the power capacity. The pump is now at work, and yesterday and today the water was down. One seventh interest in the lease is thought to be worth $1,000. The lessees have drifted on the vein from the 100-foot level, and are now working on the 200-foot level. The pump is worked in a small chute, and unless some new trouble arises it now is going to be used as the lessees expect to will control the Jack Pot lease.

Ingham Shipment.

The Ingham property closed a 50-ton shipment of ore today, which will run from $20 to $25 per ton. Superintendent Thomas is driving a 1,200 foot tunnel on the Jack Pot, lower to meet a shaft on the Jack Pot. The tunnel has been driven about 700 feet and will be put in operation in a few days. A small force of men are employed on the property. The Ingham is working a small force of men and making small shipments.

ALL ABOUT THE FLEECE.

The Past and Present History of the Great Hinsdale County Property.

It is now a pretty well established fact that an important change is taking place in the management of the Golden Fleece mine, and the many rumors that have been flying around of some time past are resolving into definite knowledge. This is to the effect that Superintendent W. A. Akers has resigned, and his action is also followed by Private Secretary Halpitt, and by Messrs. Riney and Collins, who fill the two latter have been identified with important positions under Superintendent Akers. These changes are coincidental with the return of A. E. Reynolds from Europe, but with no return come the information in a roundabout way that Reynolds has become possessed of a goodly block of the shares of the Golden Fleece mine. This may account for the change in the personnel of the active management. Angus Sholker came in from Denver a few evenings ago, and it is understood that he will take the place vacated by Mr. Akers, whose resignation takes effect October 1. Mr. Snedaker has been actively and prominently identified with the Cresco mine at Carson, and is a practical miner of considerable experience, an active, popular young man and a practical miner of considerable experience. An additional office is to be created by the installing of a resident manager. Mr. J. J. Abbott is understood to be the individual named for the position. Mr. Abbott is an old timer and for many years has been county mineral surveyor for Hinsdale county. He is understood to be in close touch with Mr. Reynolds, and therefore the distinction conferred upon him.

Mr. Akers, the retiring superintendent, will go to New York to establish a mine expert office. The young gentleman also has had considerable experience in mining, coming to Colorado with a record as a practical man from Butte. Under his superintendency the Golden Fleece mine saw its greatest development.

This mine, which has made Hinsdale county famous, has had a rather sensational record; in fact an almost pyrotechnical one. At this moment it is the scene of some extensive exploitation, and last week a new 80-horse power boiler was hauled up for the new machinery plant that is being installed. For some months past no dividends have been paid by the company, and until within a few weeks the market price of the stock has been at an ebb.

On Dead Work.

A considerable force has been employed in dead work, and for some months only enough of an output has been made in order to cover the expenses of actual working and to carry $2000 or $4000 to the good every month. The mine was originally known as the Hotchkiss. Some six years or so ago Charley Davis ran the mine on a lease. He expended all his capital and taxed all his resources in order to catch the pocket of rich telluride ore that was known to exist, and just when the hunt seemed the most hopeless the ore chute was caught, and the first carload chipped brought in the neighborhood of $20,000. He worked the pocket out, but got an option on the mine for $15,000, and then kept on developing, selling his option later on for $60,000 to a Denver syndicate, in which Pierce & Lee, the sampling mill men; S. S. Kennedy of Highlands, and William H. Yancey, of the Sedalia, Leadville, were prime movers. They expended $20,000 in opening up the mine, under the superintendency of H. C. Minnell, now of Boulder. Kennedy and Yankee subsequently disposed of their interests when the Golden Fleece Mining and Milling company was formed. Its capitalization was $600,000. H. H. Lee, A. M. Hobson and some other prominent people became interested as shareholders.

Then began a very active and vigorous system of development and the mine made shipments of ores that carried extraordinary values, some carloads returning fortunes, ore running $40,000 to $70,000 per carload, principally in gold. Dividends came with wonderful certainty and amplitude and the shares rapidly raised in price at one time going to 60 cents or so beyond the par value of $1. Now and then a special dividend was declared and Golden Fleece stockholders were in clover. The coffers of the treasury were filled to overflowing and occasionally a small block of stock was sold as a favor to friends. About this time came the sensation: closing down of the mine with the employes, some 60 in number, were summarily dismissed, the management alleging insubordinate and wholesale robbery of the mine. It was claimed that the mine lost $60,000 worth of ore, and for nearly a year they kept up a standing offer of $1000 as a reward for the conviction of the "thieves" or ore thieves. Meanwhile the mine was started up again with a new force and output and development were kept up.

From the generous profits of the Golden Fleece some speculations were entered into in Cripple Creek times, for account of the Golden Fleece company, and some $70,000 or so invested there. The company also wanted more mineral territory at home, the property consisting of Davis' claim only the aggregated portion of a lode.

The Purchase.

So contiguous, adjacent and extension lode were purchased, taking $170,000 in cash and shares to acquire the additional territory. This included the Compromise and Governor Pitkin lodes, and in this transaction several prominent Leadville people came in for a share, and Kennedy and Yankee of Leadville got a big commission for engineering the deal. After all these things were accomplished the dividends like unto a regular cooking all long here some months ago. The shares, which had been listed, began to hang until they dropped to less than 25 cents. The why and wherefore of this has always been a puzzle to Lake City people, who, of course, were not taken into the confidence of the management, and just what has been going on in the mine has been well nigh a mystery, rumors being forbidden, and to new and all employees knew that it was all their job was worth to give out any information. The news now of A. E. Reynolds being up to the Hinsdale county seat from Denver, and of his purchase of a block of stock, British Columbia is much talked of, though I look for quite a boom to come to the front a good deal soon.

Victor stock has risen again, and is now in the Games, and will regain its old-time price when dividends recommence. We have had quite a good deal of assistance from La Mine, a very excellent mining paper published in Paris.

What we need more than anything else is, for those interested in mining to spend money in printer's ink. This is what keeps a mining district before the public, and so far as advertising goes the average American mining firms are megatons in this line when compared with those of South Africa, West Australia, New Zealand and British Columbia. The latter province has, during the last six months, had a lecturer go all through Great Britain delivering stereopticon lectures on the mining interests, etc., of British Columbia. He has delivered 100 of these lectures, besides circulating an immense quantity of literature.

"I am glad to see that some of the Colorado newspapers have experienced a change of heart of late and are of opinion that outside capital is needed to develop the mineral resources of the state. I can remember that six months ago the Republican's son of the idea, and suggested that the state is as well off without as with outside capital, but in a late editorial a change is manifested. This will be a big business, although it is a pity that so many folks have to learn only by personal experience."

"What do you think about the attitude of the Bank of England on the matter of its reserve?"

"I do not think that too much importance should be attached to this statement. They have not taken any new stand, but merely state that they will go as far as their charter allows them to do, should France open its mints and the price of silver be satisfactory.

"They undoubtedly recognize that there is a strong demand for bimetallism; and a growing one, too; and also that India is very badly off as a result of the low price of silver, and they seem willing to do their share in putting this metal on a better basis. Oh, no! This is no game of bluff. The Bank of England is too great an institution for that. I believe it is an honest, manly attempt to assist in remedying a ever-present and pressing difficulty that most seriously affects over 300,000,000 subjects of the British crown."

Mr. Glidden will visit Telluride and Durango this week, and from there go to Salt Lake and Butte.

Denver Festival.

Over Rio Grande $2, October 4, 5, 6 and 7. Look out for the train service.

Colorado Springs Mining Stock Association.

Colorado Springs, Sept. 28.—The brokers had to face a rather weak market at the Mining Stock association today, but the lower prices at which stocks were selling were conducive of livelier trading as more business was done than on the opening day of the week. It is possible that the night would have prevented less business and higher prices, but the events of today are very much in the front what was expected and what was foretold in the columns of the Gazette. The nine stocks were again very well represented, but without an exception all sold at low figures and this poor showing influenced the other stocks which were traded in.

Elkton, which is being watched with considerable interest, moved to the extent of 15,000 shares and dropped in price being 19¼ at the opening, 19 12¼ at the close, a loss of an even two cents. The sales in the stock amounted to over 2,000 shares and the lower figure at which it was changable underneath leading to greater activity.

El Paso was exceptionally active and had a credit of 17,000 shares, 12,000 shares of this bought going in 1,000 lots. The price ranged from 2 1-32 to 25. The opening price, the highest, closing and opening prices respectively. The exceptionally great amount of the market was in such a flurry considerable, may result that the stock was in reality selling.

Leadville was selling at from 29 to 29½ and, as a whole, weak, advanced a little during the week. Jack Pot was steady at 6 and sold to the extent of 2,500 shares at that figure. Lillie was obtainable at 79½ and sold to the extent of 700 shares. Big of the gravel stocks were off color, Mollie Gibson having in 1,000 sales at 21 and Argentum-Junior selling down to 1½, 9,000 shares of this.

To sum up the general weakness of the market Mexican held at about above $1 and continued to be the most active stock on the list and was credited with 32,200 shares. Portunate was next with 10,000 shares, which went at 10 and 10½ in equal proportions. Plymouth showed weakness and had sold 200 shares at 72, while Union was steady at from 20½ to 20½ and had over 10,000 other at the figures.

The pipe pots were very poorly represented and in the unlisted stocks Gold King, which had 7,500 sales at 50 made the most showing. Dante was quite strong and sold at higher figures than earlier in the week, but there was little to report. Cripple Creek Queen sold at 3 and 3½ to the extent of 13,000 shares and made a fair showing in the account. The stock in other works of note was Mazna Cretia which was traded at 2 to 2½.

Shipping Mines.

	Bid.	Ask.	Sales.
Acme	10½	10¾	90
Anaconda	16	17
C. O. D.	10	10½	3500
Elkton Con	19¼	19½	17200
El Paso	24½	25	17000
Favorite		1
Franklin-Robb		1½
Gold and Globe		1½
Gold Cricket	1½	2
Golden Fleece	19	19½
Graham Con		20½
Isabella	20½	20¾	3500
Isabella Stamped	2½	2¾	500
Jack Pot	5½	6	2500
Lillie	19	19½
Marion	1	1½
Mollie Gibson	17	22	1000
Moon-Anchor	21	21½	3500
Pharmacist	10	10½	10400
Portland	72	73	100
Prince Alberta		2½
Rajah		1
Robinson	1	1½
Specimen		1
Phoenix	80		1500
Union	20	20½	17500
Work	2½	3

Prospects.

	Bid.	Ask.	Sales.
Alamosa		1
Barney Gold	10½	11
Bob Lee	1½	1¾
Bond Con		1½
C. C. Gold Dust		1
Carnegie		1
C. O. D.	1	1½
Cow Boy	1	1½	1000
Des Moines		1
Fairbank	1½	1¾
Fairview Rawlins	1½	1¾
Fairley	1	1½
Gold Hill		1
Hayden Gold		1
Hi Mary		1
Lexington		1
Milwaukee		1½
Mineral Chief		1
Mount Gold		1
Mollie		1
New Haven		1
Orion		1
Palmetto		1
Silver Gate		1
Tiger		1

Unlisted.

	Bid.	Ask.	Sales.
Bay State		1½
Blue Bird		1½
Cripple Creek Queen		3
Gold Cricket		1½
Golden Age		1½
Golden Fleece		1½
Mazna Cretia		2
Pappoose		1½
Milwaukee		1½
Mineral Chief		1½
Gold King		50
Temple		1½
Garfield Group		1½
Kimberly		1½
Grand Hill		2½
Dante		1½

MACHINES FOR KLONDIKE.

One Device is Now Being Tested at Denver.

The problem of operating placer mining in the Klondike has been one of the greatest difficulties in the way of the development of the country. A good deal of thought has been given to the subject, and many devices for overcoming the difficulties have been invented, but the difficulties have seemed insurmountable. Another has just constructed a peculiarly shaped furnace which can be lowered into the creek and an artificial draft created by forcing air into the top with an air pump, and several other devices of furnaces and steampipe combinations are mentioned in the mining and scientific papers.

One of the most effective of the contrivances yet mentioned is that now being tested in Denver on Blake street. The device is a pipe of the ordinary gasoline pattern, heavy air pressure. The machine is owned by Barnes & Doe, and consists of a receptacle for air and a gasoline reservoir in the upper pipe. By a system of valves air under pressure is induced to the gasoline, which has the effect of combining the air and gasoline and creating a gas which when ignited burns with an intense heat, and shoots out a flame to a long distance.

The experiments so far made have been with an ordinary bicycle air pump, and have not been entirely satisfactory, as the necessary pressure could not be maintained. Even with that contrivance, however, a flame was projected five or six feet from the nozzle, and he ventures claim that with a pressure of 40 pounds to the square inch they can project a flame from 40 to 50 feet from the nozzle of such nature that at that distance it can melt an iron pipe two inches in diameter, and burn up any ordinary substances. An air pump of the required power has been sent for and a thorough test of the machine will be made in a few days.

Lucky Guss.

Extract from manager's report to London, dated 27th August: "The main shaft is now down 65 feet. We have the station cut and levels started both ways. Assays in the level going north show two ounces per ton; 20 inches wide. To the south it has assayed $6 per ton, and a general sample from vein at both levels assays $28 per ton. From all indications we will have a fine block of ore between 8th and 9th levels, for in the bottom of the 8th level for 60 feet the ore shows fine, and average better than three ounces per ton, and the width is 10 to 18 inches. I have shipped 50 tons of ore, and have 60 in the bins, and expect to ship 100 tons more, making for the month 200 tons at least."

Talk About Train Service.

You can't beat the Rio Grande. Every day in the week. Watch for the train service October 4, 5, 6 and 7—Denver festival.

Colorado Springs Board of Trade and Mining Exchange.

Colorado Springs, Sept. 28.—There was a great improvement in the amount of business transacted at the Board of Trade and Mining exchange today, the total sales being close to 210,000 shares as against less than 100,000 upon the previous day. The big total was in the main due to the great activity of Shannon, which had a total of nearly 150,000 shares. The price paid for the stock ranged from $1.25 to $5 per 1,000 and it opened at the higher figure closing at the lowest and consequently recording a loss during the call. Most of the other trading was in a better class of stocks, and not a few high-priced ones were bought during the meeting. Elkton, for instance, sold to the extent of 550 shares at 9 and $9.05, while Moon-Anchor sold at $1.02.

Among the other stocks Granite Hill was well to the front with 6,000 shares at 3⅛ and 3¼. Theresa had a couple of thousand at 8¼ and 8⅜, Republic was busy with 8,000 sales at 2⅜ and Buckhorn was credited with 1,000 sales at 17c.

Among the cheaper stocks not already mentioned Golden Fleece was the most active, having a credit of 13,000 sales which went at $1 and $1.25 per 1,000.

Shipping Mines.

	Bid.	Ask.	Sales.
Anaconda	43	....	....
Anchoria-Leland	25	....	....
Acme	18½	....	....
Arcadia Con.	38½	39½	2000
Buckhorn	57½	57¾	....
Blue Bird	....	5½	....
Cripple Creek Con.	9¾	10⅛	....
Dante	7	....	....
Enterprise	5¾	6	....
Elkton Con.	92	91	550
El Paso Gold	23½	25½	....
Fannie B.	1¼	1½	....
Favorite	....	1	....
Garfield-Grouse	4½	....	....
Gold Standard	3⅜	3¾	....
Gold King	50	....	....
Golden Fleece	....	1	....
Gold and Globe	3½	3¾	1000
Gold Cricket	2	2½	....
Granite Hill	3	3¼	6000
Ironclad	1	....	....
Isabella	28	30	....
Isabella, stamped	....	39	....
Jack Pot	5¾	5⅞	....
Jefferson	3½	....	....
Malta	9	11	....
Mollie G.	20½	22	....
Moon-Anchor	99	....	50
Nugget	....	....	....
Orphan Belle	....	....	....
Opir	12	15½	....
Portland	70	75	....
Pharmacist	9⅞	10¼	....
Sacramento	3	3⅞	....
Theresa	8⅛	8½	2000
Trojan	....	21⅞	....
Work	4⅞	5¼	....

Prospective Mines.

	Bid.	Ask.	Sales.
Acla	....	....	....
Arcadia	....	....	....
Alamo	....	....	....
American Con	2	2¼	2000
Ben Hur	3½	3¾	1000
Blue Bell	2⅞	3	....
Buckhorn	17½	2	2000
Big Leg	.005	.006	....
C. O. D. and Mandom	2⅛	2¼	....
Creede and C. C.	3⅞	4½	....
Colfax	....	....	....
Currency	1⅛	2	....
Des Moines	....	....	....
Fannie Rawlins	....	....	....
Flower of the West	....	....	3000
Findley	....	....	....
Gould	....	....	....
Golden Eagle	....	....	....
Golden Age	....	....	....
Hayden Gold	....	....	....
Humboldt	1	1½	....
Kansas	....	....	....
Mount Rosa	....	....	....
Mutual	....	....	....
Magna Charta	5½	6	....
New Haven	1⅞	1⅞	....
Oriole	....	....	....
Pappoose	1	1⅛	....
Rumolda	1½	1¾	....
Rubio	....	....	....
Rubber	22	....	....
Republic	2⅜	2½	8000
Sunny Jim Tunnel	....	....	....
Six Points	....	....	....
Snowstorm	....	....	....
Tabyo	15	17	....
Tunnel	9	10½	....
Virginia M.	....	....	....

Additional Sales.

Shannon, 138,000 at from $4 to $5 per 1000.
Sedan, 10,000 at from $2.25 to $3 per 1000.
Goldstore, 2000 at $1.50 per 1000.
Cleveland, 5000 at $1.25 per 1000.
Genevra, 10,000 at $1.50 per 1000.
Arcadia, 500 at from $2 to $2.25 per 1000.
Iowa, 5,000 at 1c.
Kimberley, 20,000 at 2½.
St. L. and C. C. 5000 at $3 per 1000.
U. K. and N. 5000 at 1.
Western Union, 3000 at 15c.
Dolly Varden, 2000 at $7 per 1000.
U. Treasure, 13,000 at from $1 to $1.25 per 1000.

A FREE PASSAGE.

If You Guess Right You Get a Pass to Dawson City.

Say, the London Financial Times: People who are prepared to face the rigors of the White Pass in the hope of extending themselves with the solid gold of the Klondike region as compared are gradually finding the pecuniary obstacles to be expeditiously disappearing. They may subscribe for shares to the tune of £100 in the Klondike Syndicate, and secure, in addition to their share, a free passage to Dawson City, for the operation involves the possession of £100 as a preliminary. A easier way now offers itself. A newspaper called the Weekly Budget has commenced the publication of a serial story—"The Crystogram; or Our Lady of the Snows." The solution of the crystogram, which, we gather, is the essential feature of the novel, is to be rewarded with several prizes—bicycles, sewing machines, watches, clocks, rings, brooches and watch chains galore—and the first prize is a first-class ticket to the Klondike, with £50 in bank notes for pocket money. The game is described as "a grand amusement for presenting long evenings." Whether this refers to the puzzle or to the journey we do not know, but, at any rate the £50 will come in handy for funeral and mourning expenses.

HOME RUN LITIGATION.

The Sheldon Investment Company Cannot Work the Claim.

The case of John J. Wyatt against the Sheldon Investment Company was before Judge Johnson in Denver yesterday. The defendants filed their answer to Wyatt's application for a receiver. They claim that on July 15 of this year they agreed to purchase from him a 13-16 interest in a lease of the Home tun lodes at Cripple Creek for $2,800. Wyatt to pay all claims and royalties. The defendants claim that the former did not hold to his contract so that, when they assumed possession of their lease was declared forfeited by James Doyle, who had received no royalties. Wyatt's application for a receiver was denied by Judge Johnson, but the defendants were enjoined from operating the mines named.

MINERS' GRIEVANCE.

They Object to the Cut of 5 Per Cent. on Silver Made by the Smelters.

An exchange infers that the silver miners have another grievance besides the misquotations made on lead, and says that the miner revolts against the 5 per cent. cut in the silver quotation by the smelters. Years ago, when smelting processes were in the formation stage, the smelters lost a portion of their values, especially silver. This loss they felt should be borne by the miner, so they paid him only 95 per cent. of the actual market price of the white metal. This practice is still continued, although the smelting processes have been so perfected that the loss of silver or gold is almost infinitesimal. When the white metal was up in the 80's or 90's, the miner did not object to this 5 per cent. exaction, but since the tremendous fall of silver since 1893, every penny per ounce literally counts, so that a difference of 3 or 4 cents may mean the difference between profit and no profit. Today, for instance, silver may be quoted at and the smelter may sell the product at 55 cents per ounce. The miner receives but 52¼ cents for it, and of that 52¼ cents comes the treatment charges of the smelter, as well as the actual expenses of mining, to say nothing of the royalties exacted.

Mining men feel that they have a real grievance on this being deprived of the benefits of securing the full value of their product, and regard it as unjust that the smelters should continue a practice the reason for which has long passed out of existence, with the perfecting of metallurgical methods in smelting.

QUARTERLY REPORT.

The Isabella Gold Mining Company Now Has a Reserve Fund of Nearly $100,000.

The following quarterly report was mailed to stockholders in the Isabella Gold Mining company yesterday:

"At a meeting of the board of directors of the Isabella Gold Mining company, held at the company's office in Colorado Springs, Colo., on the 10th day of September, 1897, the following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, That inasmuch as the earnings of the company for the past quarter have not been sufficient to pay any dividend, and following the established policy of not encroaching upon the reserve fund of $100,000 now on hand, no dividend shall be declared; and the secretary is hereby instructed to mail to each stockholder a statement of the receipts and disbursements for the past quarter, together with a copy of the above resolution.

A Literary Coincidence.

Scribbler—Can you lend me a collar? I've just joined the writers' guild, and I want to pay my dues.

Poetic Spirit—Why, I resigned from that club last night.

Scribbler—What for?

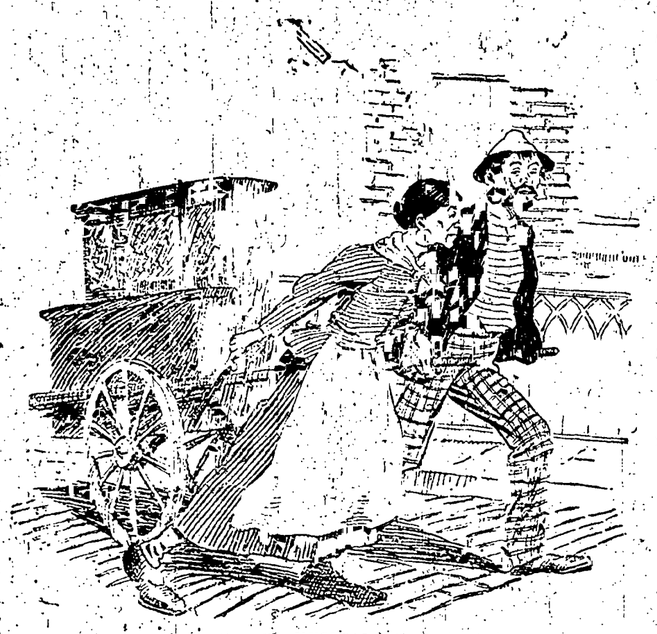
Poetic Spirit—For the same reason.

Classified at Once.

Lady—What was your husband's business?

The Widow—He was a curio collector.

Lady—I thought so.



"A MUSICAL TEAM."

Hard on Bashful Willy.

Miss Amatic—I see by the newspapers that the doctors are going to make men out of monkeys.

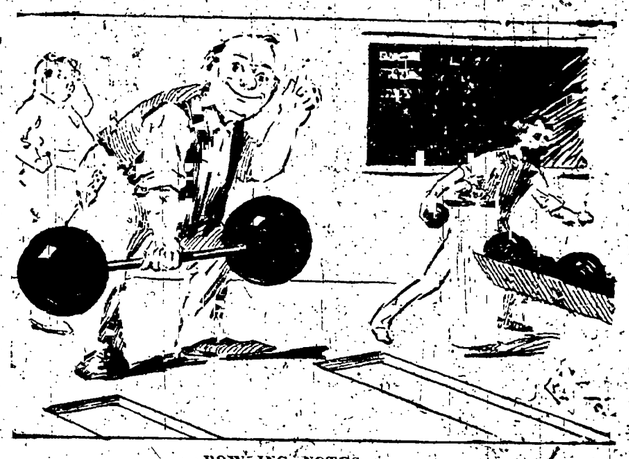
Miss Sharp—Oh, that's nothing. They are only reversing the usual order.

IT WAS BARGAIN DAY.

Farmer Easy—Nothing tew eat, thank ye, I'm waiting fur a gentleman who writ tew me tew meet him here.

Waitress—What for?

Farmer Easy—He said in his letter he had some Klondike gold bricks for sale.



BOWLING NOTES.

A sure thing for a strike.

In Greater New York.

Miss Sprocket—Jack asked me last night if he might hold my handlebars for life.

Miss Pedal—And what did you tell him?

Miss Sprocket—I told him yes, if he would keep away from other bars.

Shady tree,
Babbling brook,
Little maid
With anxious look.
Sunshine shineth,
Vanity fair,
Summer man
Is not there.

—Tom Wren.

Too Watery.

[illegible] work an' makin' a lot [illegible] pants.

RECAPITULATION.

"Did you go hunting, my pretty maid?"
A mother to her daughter said.

"No, I did not, my mother dear,
And I've lost my Summer chance, I fear."

"But the Winter is coming on, my child,
When the woods with titles high are piled."

"Yes, that I know, sweet mother mild,
And you can trust your darling child."

"Can you get a Count, my pretty maid?"
"I can, and I will, mamma," she said."

—Tom Wren.

THE MAID OF KLONDIKE.

Maid of Klondike, ere we part,
Tell me if you have a heart;
Or if, inflamed by gold's red lust,
You've lost it all for Klondike's dust.

Trembled for Himself.

Mamma—What is the matter with the dog? He acts as if he was afraid I would kill him.

Freddie—I dess he's seen you 'pankin' me.

An Earnest Student.

Mrs. Philanthropy—I am sorry, Mary, that you cannot write. I would be glad to teach you anything you want to know.

Mary—Then, ma'am, I think I'll take up the pianny.

AN ILLUSTRATED REPORT.

"We are able to report much activity in the foreign missionary field."—Gospel Truth Record, Aug. 17.

A Wonder.

She's different quite from other girls—
Now draw your own deduction—
She reads and lets me read also,
Without an interruption.

[illegible] Question Which Organizes the Police.

CLASSIC HAVE BEEN ROBBED.

Thrown Down by a Man He was Befriending and $51 Extracted from His Clothes — Occurred This Side of Colorado City — The Police Think it was All a Dream.

R. D. Harmon who owns a ranch near Loveland and who is stopping temporarily in this city, over the old Gazette building on Tejon street, corner of Huerfano, went into police headquarters last night and informed the captain that he had been held up, or more accurately waylaid, thrown down and robbed of his money.

It seems Harmon fell in with a stranger who was in hard luck, and having compassion for his pitiful state, offered him food and shelter. The pair were then in the vicinity of West Colorado Springs, and coming this way when suddenly the subject of sympathy put a half Nelson wrestling hold on his would-be benefactor and violently threw him to the ground, where he soon was rifled of his possessions, consisting of $51.

Harmon's kind disposition and frame of mind received a shock and in the spirit of revenge the officers of the law were called upon. Harmon did not care about the recovery of the cash as much as he desired to have the confidence man brought to the scale output of justice.

The captain of police promised to direct his force to be on the qui vive for the man who is described only as resembling a Mexican or Indian. The police are somewhat skeptical however, as the affair is said to have occurred between 5 and 6 o'clock in the evening and the report of the robbery was not made until almost midnight. Their belief in the tale is further weakened by a noticeable fact which Harmon had on his person at the time. Maybe it was a cream supplanted by a free dose of the celebrated soft paint sold over the bars of Ye Olden Toxine.

WHAT'S [illegible]

CLASSES WILL BE FORMED THIS WEEK FOR THE WINTER.

Outline of the Work which is to be Done by Them—Special Attention and Help will be Given to All Who have Difficulty with Any of the Branches.

The evening classes of the Young Men's Christian Association, which will begin Thursday evening, September 30, promise to be very much [illegible] especially those who are employed, [illegible] to be called "Everybody's opportunity for self-improvement," and it is [illegible] success.

In view of the adjustment of all educational expenses to the [illegible] principle, the following [illegible] tuition, incidental baths included, anywhere in the week, $7 per year.

The following courses of studies will give a definite outline of the work to be done during the coming school year:

Elementary Book-keeping.

Class meets Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. The Ellis System of actual business practice [illegible] is believed to be the best [illegible] system for any text-book system [illegible]. The aim is to give the student a maximum of the practical and a minimum of theoretical. The work is based on the purely actual business plan. Each set of [illegible] work is independent of his associates, so that his progress depends entirely upon his ability and the amount of time he puts upon it.

The student transacts all business in his own name, does current dealing, makes out, endorses and receipts all classes of commercial paper in a business like way, and handles common carrier and merchandise.

The course will give the conscientious student a very thorough practical working knowledge of the general principles of both single and double entry book-keeping, and on completing the course the learner will have no difficulty in keeping the books of any ordinary concern, where complicated accounting is not in evidence, in a neat and accurate manner and according to the latest and simplest methods.

Advanced Book-keeping.

Class meets every Thursday evening. The Ellis system will be used and the work will be of a more interesting and practical nature.

After a brief review of the general principles of book-keeping, the six column journal, commission sales ledger, and certain special forms will be introduced. The book-keeping of joint stock companies and corporations and the more difficult forms of Book-keeping will be studied.

It is promised that the course will be full of interest and practical and good salaries should be obtained by those completing it.

Arithmetic.

Class meets Monday and Thursday evenings. The "Model Arithmetic," published by the Ellis company, will be used. This is a very concise and useful book, introducing a number of new methods and putting every lesson in a plain and simple manner which can easily be grasped by the student.

There will be ample blackboard facilities this year. Definite lessons will be assigned for each recitation and the work will be of an interesting and practical nature.

Special attention and help will be given to those who have had few advantages, or who have had special difficulty with this subject.

Mechanical Drawing.

The association has succeeded in securing the services of an unusually able instructor in this branch, one who is a graduate of the Manual Training School of Washington university of St. Louis, and of Cornell university.

The work will commence with straight line and easy drawings, and will be so graded that it will not be too difficult for any who join, even if they have never done any drawing before. The plan of individual instruction will be followed, and students who are more advanced in this study will be given work according to their ability. Class meets Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Penmanship.

Class meets Monday and Thursday evenings. A clear and rapid business hand, without shading or any unnecessary flourishes, will be the aim of this class, and it is believed that all who come in and are willing to apply themselves will acquire such a hand.

Towards the close of the year business letters and commercial papers will be taken and letters written for dictation.

Stenography.

The Ben Pitman system of shorthand will be taught, the first term being devoted to Pitman's "Manual of Phonography," taking up easy sentences before the close of the term.

During the second term the class will take up reporting style. The practical dictation exercises, such as letter writing, business and legal forms, etc., will be given as soon as the class is ready for them.

All students intending to join this class should, without fail, be prepared to put a reasonable amount of time, at home, upon the subject daily. This is necessary if the class is to be a success. Class meets Wednesday and Friday evenings.

Physiology and Hygiene.

The class will be taught by one of the leading physicians of this city, will be illustrated by a manikin chart, and will be one of the most valuable and attractive of the courses offered. Class meets Tuesday evenings. The course extends through the first half of the school year and is followed by a course in

First Aid to the Injured.

Familiar talks upon this very useful subject by one of the skilled surgeons of the city, with actual demonstrations by members of the class, cannot but be of real benefit and interest to those who attend. The work of this class will follow the course in physiology and will be taken up at the beginning of the second term.

Spelling.

Class meets every Monday evening. The work will be confined, as far as possible, to those words which are of common occurrence, and will be as practical and interesting as possible.

Orchestra Music.

This course will be taught by Professor S. C. Kacheiski. There will be two orchestras formed. The first will be composed of beginners, or those who have had but a few lessons. A very easy class of music will be rehearsed, parts will often be rehearsed separately and those who join this will find each rehearsal to be much in the nature of a lesson.

A special discount will be granted to Y. M. C. A. members who are in this orchestra and who wish to take private lessons of Professor Kacheiski, also to members of the advanced orchestra. The advanced orchestra will be composed of those who have had some experience in reading orchestra scores.

Educational Lecture Course.

Two courses of lectures are now being arranged for. A course of familiar talks upon scientific and other popular educational subjects, fully illustrated, will be given by college professors and others. A second course, which promises to be of special interest to young men, on "Choosing a Profession," will be given by leading members of the various professions, trades, etc.

Literary and Debating Society.

A literary society will be formed among the members and many will doubtless avail themselves of this exceedingly valuable method of self-improvement. Some warm debates may be looked for. If sufficient interest is manifested it is thought that some fine debates can be arranged for with the college societies.

Chess and Checker Club.

A club of this nature will probably be formed among the members as a great deal of interest has already been manifested in these games.

Classes will be formed in the following subjects if eight or more members apply for them: German, French and drawing. Also a Elocution, Mandolin club, Vocal music.

Applications for the various lines of study are now being received and any one who is interested should call at once and see Wilbur Culver, educational director, or W. A. Lloyd, general secretary, Y. M. C. A. rooms in the DeGraff building. Hours 9 a. m. to 10 p. m.

SPELL THE VICTOR.

In the Infantry Competitive Shoot Colorado Leads Them All.

Colorado Springs will go down in the history of the War Department as being the scene of the finest army competitive shoot ever held, and Denver will be given the distinction of being the station to which is attached the soldier who has acquitted himself so nobly as to make the highest score on record in the United States Army.

Sergeant C. W. Snell of the 7th Regiment of Fort Logan, made an aggregate score of 624 in the four days' contest. This mark, until yesterday was 26 points above any other previously made. In Vancouver Barracks, State of Washington, yesterday, was concluded the department shoot of California and Columbia, and in which a top score of 613 was made. This even is 11 below Snell's record. The latter led the nearest competitor, in the same department of 38 points, and by his magnificent exhibition won the gold medal, not to mention the praise of Captain Mallory, who was appointed last spring by the secretary of war to report and inspect the various department shoots held in this country.

Captain Mallory pronounced this competition a remarkable one and said the average made would in all probability be the finest in all contests.

A High Tribute.

This, coming from the deputy of the highest tribunal in the army, is a compliment not to be taken lightly from two standpoints. One from the fact that it proves the superiority of the Broadmoor range and the other by the best score being made by the representative branch of the army located in this district.

General Otis, commanding the Department of the Colorado, and his staff, including Colonel Volkmer, Major Munn, Captain Sawyer, Captain Alexander, Captain Glassford and Lieutenant Slahin, were present at the last day's firing and at its conclusion witnessed the presentation of the prizes.

General Otis conferred this honor personally and with much grace.

A dress parade and a band concert followed, the latter being attended by many more than were in evidence at the recent Opera-House-7th-Regiment-Band-Concert demonstration. The companies were then dismissed.

On Tuesday the camp will break up and the officers and soldiers who have popularized themselves in this year's rifle practice and summer encampment will depart for their headquarters.

Importance of It All.

The papers throughout the land have daily received the scores of the competing teams and have given wide publicity to the results. In New York and Washington, D. C., the leading journals have commented editorially on the contests and the possible outcome. Not that the advisability of adopting the rifle used was under the consideration of the government, but that the new style of targets and the latest methods of testing the accuracy of Uncle Sam's defenders were open to the criticism and opinion of the world.

The targets employed are of the silhouette pattern and closely resemble what would actually appear to a soldier in battle aiming at the enemy. A reclining form and an erect statue are thus copied in toto and to the exact proportions of the average masculine frame. The philosophy of this plan can be readily appreciated.

As an illustration and confirmation of the perfection attained with the rifle, it is only necessary to add that one of the men in this late shoot put eleven out of twelve bullets on the reclining target from a distance of 100 yards. This particular target is a counterpart of a man from and including the chest up.

Great credit also reflects on the new rifle used in the army. It is the Krag-Jorgensen or American magazine type. It is of Danish patent and American manufacture, made in Springfield, Mass., where the United States arsenal is situated.

The Fine Score.

The total score of the four days follows. The first ten were selected from the 31 competing and will henceforth constitute the department team. The leading man received a handsome gold medal while the next three won silver mementoes. The last six were presented with bronze insignias of their proficiency.

C. W. Snell, Sgt., C., 7th	624
M. Barrett, Corp., A., 7th	586
E. Hawkins, Pvt., E., 24th	575
G. P. Garrett, Corp., E., 7th	570
R. Lunsford, Sgt., F., 7th	553
L. Doyle, L. Corp., D., 15th	553
W. Donnald, Pvt., A., 11th	542
W. Tate, Corp., A., 24th	542
J. W. Bryant, Pvt., B., 15th	[illegible]
D. Harkins, Pvt., F., 15th	539

[illegible] Accepted Recently Each Other with Electrical Problems.

THE TELEPHONE FRANCHISE

Warm Discussion Among the City Fathers in Which Alderman Frost and His Sympathizers Come Out With Laurels—The Franchise Is Granted—Wilson & Jackson Will Be Allowed Another Year to Complete Strickler Tunnel.

The city council met last evening in an adjourned session with all the members present, save Powell and Jones. The meeting was called principally to dispose of the Colorado Telephone company's franchise, which had been introduced at a previous occasion. District Attorney Blackmer was observed in the audience. His presence was in the interests of the applicants whom he represents legally.

Judge Kinsley was in evidence through a communication in which the council was requested not to act immediately in the matter of granting the franchise.

The session was inaugurated by Woodland, who also desired further consideration. In this Rouse joined and these two formed the chief obstacle in the way of a prompt passage. The defense of their argument was at all times eloquent and apparently convincing. Frost assumed the role of leader for the other side who saw no reason for delay. The big First ward alderman said the obnoxious features in the ordinance had disappeared in its revisement and that it was a good proposition for the city. Woodland's motion of postponement was lost and the body got down to discussion.

Speeches in Order.

Orator Rouse arose and dilated at length on the impropriety of exclusively and absolutely giving away a valuable patent outright without the same accruing some material benefit to the city and its citizens. Frost, in his characteristically brief style sized up the situation differently. That monument of wisdom pointed out the facts of there being no exclusive permit and that in view of the words of the ordinance the underground conduit system would be for the first time presented thereby entering the wedge to the "consummation devoutly to be wished" of abandoning the "unsightly" and unsightly pole and wire disfigurement to an otherwise picturesque city.

Wanted to Hold Them Up.

Frost and St. John formed the aggressive side in favor of passing the ordinance while Rouse and Woodland together defended their position. Woodland wanted all sorts of concessions, including six free phones for the use of the city's officers in the transaction of City's business, and stood out further for a reduction in the rates. He thought $50 for business houses and $30 for residences was ample compensation to the telephone company. Mr. Blackmer offered several hospitalities for the company he represented and the young local superintendent of the exchange vouchsafed the information that a lowering of the present charge would not give the required service.

No Relief Yet Awhile.

The vote taken to decide whether the city should have a complimentary half dozen instruments was against such a move. The vote taken to readjust the current rate was also in the negative.

There will be no compulsory free list, and there will be no relief from high "phone taxation."

On through the ordinance, section by section the discussion progressed. It was interesting and instructive. Frost proved himself a star debater. Several of his questions completely flabbergasted the "conservatives" and at last the final vote were taken on the passage of the bill.

It went through unanimously showing the perfect harmony and unanimity existing in the present board of aldermen.

Time Extended.

The water and finance committees reported favorably in the question of an extension of time on the Strickler tunnel contract. A year from yesterday was given Wilson and Jackson for the completion of the stupendous waterway.

ADVERTISED WORDS.

Narrow Escapes and Thrilling Adventures—Faced a Lion—Game Laws Sacred.

Mr. Grant Jones, of Chicago, and party, composed of Mr. John Elston, Mr. Thompson, Mr. Arthur Flynn, Mr. Nolter, Mr. David Irvine and Mr. Kunzman, returned Tuesday from a camping expedition in the western part of the state. They left here a month ago fully prepared, it need be, for the wilds of Africa. Mr. Jones, who is a correspondent of the Times-Herald, and is here writing special stories for eastern papers has enough material to interest the easterners with narrow escapes and thrilling adventures for some months.

While crossing the Arkansas, and the reins in Mr. Irvine's hand, their wagon was overturned and all were precipitated into the river. Fortunately, but not without much difficult and laborious work the paraphernalia was rescued. Sunday night, as it was extremely cold in the mountains, they made their beds in a straw stack, and in the morning, on awakening, found themselves in company with some which had been enjoying the comfort likewise.

Bear, elk and antelope were seen roaming over the mountains, and on an occasional shot was fired, but the game laws were sacred.

Mr. Jones will remain in the Springs for several weeks, and will then go to Cripple Creek, where he will observe the workings of the great gold camp. He will also familiarize himself with the Leadville district.

Why any astronomer should prophesy the destruction of the earth by a comet, in these days, when it has become pretty sure that comets are too tenuous to greatly injure the earth if they should collide with it, is a puzzle; yet here is one Prof Fall of Vienna who even sees the date of destruction on November 13, 1899—if he had set it 1898 instead, he might have rung in the 13 superstition, as that number is divisible by 13. The probabilities of such an event are as one in 260,000,000, by the way. It is true that Ignatius Donnelly, in his romance of "Ragnarok," describes the confusion of the globe by a comet, producing gravel drifts, and changing the whole face thereof, some millions of years ago, and what has been may be.

According to the Mohammedan creed, ten animals besides man are admitted into paradise. These are: 1, the dog; 2, Balaam's ass; 3, Solomon's ant; 4, Jonah's whale; 5, the ram of Ishmael; 6, The Queen of Sheba's ass; 7, the camel of Saleh; 8, the cuckoo of Bilkis; 9, the ox of Moses; 10, an animal called Al Borak, which conveyed Mohammed to heaven.—(From October St. Nicholas.

Mrs. Maybrick has abandoned all hopes of being released for at least 18 months yet, at which time she will have been in prison 10 years. The case will come up for revision then and possibly something may be done. Her mother, the Baroness von Roques, is allowed to visit her once every three months, when she is allowed one hour's stay. It is said that Mrs. Maybrick is in good health.

[illegible] REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

(Continued from Page 1.)

pipes, they will realize it before many days and we shall have an uprising of the citizens such as we had three years ago.

"The issue before us now is simply one of good government. Against a ticket corrupt, ignorant, incompetent—a ticket that is positively dangerous to the interests of every respectable man and woman in the county, we have one that represents, as the resolutions of the convention declare, the intelligence, the morality and the business interests of the county. The men we have recommended have proved themselves to be capable and honest officials, and the new men on the ticket are clean, honest, able men who will add a great deal of strength to the ticket.

"There is nothing to do now, and in this matter I would refer especially to the people of this city—is to get registered and out the vote. The county commissioners have struck off 2,000 names from the registry list, and it behooves every person who has a ballot to see to it that his or her name is on the list of qualified voters for this coming election. The place of registration is at the assessor's office in the county building, and there only. Only 200 names a day registered the last two or three weeks. There are only about two weeks left in which registering can be done, and the voters of the city should wake up to the emergency today, and not wait until the last moment.

"The old county central committee could have been improved in quality; but the convention has given me an array of associates as good in quality, and greater in number, so that the new committee is better than the old one just as the ticket is 9 to 5. I am sure that the committee will do all it can to elect the ticket; and that not perfunctorily, but because we are enthusiastically for it, and because we feel that the interests of the county demand its election."

Comments and Gossings.

More than [illegible] per cent. of the railway passengers in England travel third class.

A French-Algerian court has decided that any spider caught in the house belongs to the person in whose apartment it is found after the close of business hours.

The longest commercial advance at which the telephone is now operated is from Boston to St. Louis, a distance of 800 miles. This make the line more than twice as long as any one in Europe.

Claus Spreckels, for the benefit of his corporation for the Sandwich Islands, who are to debate India in Salem Verey, Cal., and to raise sugar cane, there. Mr. Spreckels court house, was dead.

A French colonial [illegible] the officers and men to travel on their commands. It has invented a [illegible] glove to help the foot soldiers. They can now travel [illegible] in this manner without fatigue.

The rates of boarding in Paris are very high. Where about from [illegible] may go to get a good [illegible] for [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] and